Man Sent Up For Trial, Charged by Ontario Premier

Henry M. Walker Committed by Magistrate at St. Thomas for Assize Hearing; Hepburn Says Extortion Attempted

Two Other Men Also Complainant

Canadian Press

St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 6.—Henry M. Walker was committed for trial here to-day on three charges of extortion and theft after Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario had accused Walker from the witness stand of attempting to extort money from him and two others. Preliminary hearing of other charges against Walker went forward.

Only the evidence of Premier Hepburn, Donald M. McCrimmon, St. Thomas attorney, and George McLeay of Thedden, joint complainants, was heard before Magistrate E. S. Livermore formally committed Walker for trial at the next assize.

No defence evidence or legal argument was offered. Commitment was on a charge of attempted extortion from the three complainants; of theft of $75 from Mr. McCrimmon and Mr. McLeay and of attempted extortion, jointly with Arthur Leakey, of money from Mr. Hepburn.

The charge against Leakey was not pressed to-day. Special prosecutor Norman F. Newton of London said the crown was not prepared to proceed in his case.

Mr. Hepburn detailed in his evidence how Walker had promoted charges made in the Ontario Legislature before the Hepburn government assumed power, of alleged payroll irregularities in Talbotville, Ont.

CHARGE REDUCED

A fifth charge, preferred by Glen Hamilton, brother-in-law of Premier Hepburn, who said he gave Walker $200, was reduced to false pretences. The sixth, in which Walker was charged with demanding money with menaces from Mrs. C. E. Purvis of Melshide, Ont., was withdrawn. Prosecutor H. F. Newton said he would (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

BIG RIOT AT BREST TO-DAY

Associated Press

Brest, France, Aug. 6.—Rioting strikers to-day tore down the tricolor flag of France from the sub-prefecture here and hoisted a red flag in its place.

Twelve persons were injured in street fighting which broke out after workers in the French navy shipyard had clashed with police and troops. Business was suspended in the port. Shops were locked and windows barred.

TORN DOWN

The red flag raised by the mob was torn down by one man, defying the mass of strikers, who pelted him with stones and bricks and chanted the "internationale." The man was Subprefect Jacques Henry. He climbed a wall and jerked the red banner from the ladders.

About 3,000 strikers took part in the demonstration. During the fighting with police stones, bolts, tools and bottles were thrown by men who had refused to work under the heavy police guard established at the docks.

CHEQUES REFUSED

Le Havre, France, Aug. 6 (Associated Press).—Engineers of the French Line to-day refused to accept pay cheques with 10 per cent reductions, decreed by the government.

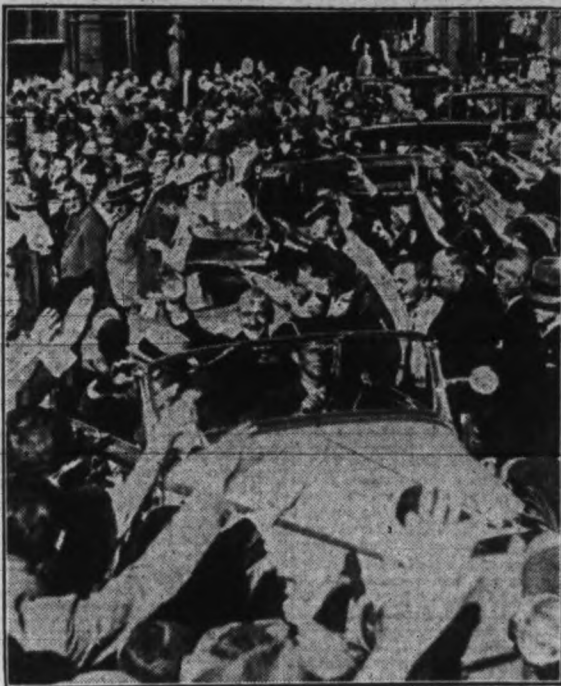

POLICE CONFERENCE

Paris, Aug. 6.—Clashes between hostile political forces and demonstrations against Premier Laval's pay-cutting decree laws disturbed France to-day.

The Premier summoned prefects of all eighty-six of France's departments, the governing officials for their territories, to a conference this coming week-end on the decree laws.

Mr. Laval intended to tell the prefects how to apply the laws and to help him to lower the cost of living to start economic recovery. Reports from various parts of the country indicated more than a score of persons were injured in workers' demonstrations yesterday and to-day against the government pay cuts.

British Veterans Given Great Welcome In Berlin

It was with difficulty cars carrying British veterans of the Great War, visiting Germany recently on a goodwill mission, were driven through dense crowds at points in Berlin. The picture above shows the scene at the Friedrichstrasse Station in the German capital, when they were welcomed.

Nazis Fear Loss of Olympics; Hamper Foreign Reporters

Authoritatively Stated Danger of Anti-Jewish and Anti-Catholic Campaigns Causing Cancellation of 1936 World Athletic Event Has Led Hitler Aides to Obstruct Correspondents of Foreign Newspapers.

Veterans' Weekly Paper Suppressed

Berlin, Aug. 6.—An authoritative source expressed the belief to-day that fear of losing the 1936 Olympic Games because of the campaign against Jews and "political Catholicism" lay behind Nazi attempts to obstruct foreign correspondents.

Loss of the games at Berlin would come close to being a major setback for the Nazi regime, economically as well as politically. Millions of marks are being spent in preparation, with officials counting on an influx of foreign money to stimulate declining business. Informed sources said certain Nazi quarters were convinced there existed among foreign correspondents a scheme to have the international committee cancel the games.

GOEBBELS'S METHOD
The ousting of some newspapermen and the influencing of those remaining against sending abroad reports of the attacks against Jews and "political Catholicism" were said authoritatively to be the method of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, for dealing with the alleged plot.

Members of the Foreign Press Association said they were mystified as to why government officials should believe charges of the existence of any plot.

COMMITTEE AIDED
Some foreign newspapermen have been giving free aid to the German Olympic Committee, translating material, said a source.

GREAT LOTTERY TICKET SEIZURE

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 6.—Quebec provincial police raided a building on Vire Street West to-day and are said to have seized 2,000,000 lottery tickets. Police said a wholesale lottery business was being operated. A number of printing presses also were seized.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR LOCAL GIRLS

Provincial police to-day were checking with Nanaimo officers on a report that the two fourteen-year-old girls missing from Victoria since 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, had been given a lift on their way to the island city.

Police yesterday were notified that a motorist had picked up two girls, answering the description of the missing persons, and taken them from Shawnigan Lake to Cowichan Bay.

The girls are Sadie McMillan, 1336 McNair Street, and Jean Flamondon, 775 Hillside Avenue.

ITALY CALLS MORE TROOPS

Three Divisions Are Added; Ethiopia Organizing Red Cross

Rome, Aug. 6.—In answer to reports of Ethiopian troop movements along Italy's east African frontier, Premier Benito Mussolini ordered to-day mobilization of two regular army divisions, creation of two replacement divisions and mobilization of a volunteer Fascist blackshirt division.

In all, the new units called to arms approximate some 75,000 men.

Estimating the strength at an average of 15,000 men to a division, the order will bring Italy's white forces in Eritrea and Italian Somaliland to 195,000 men. A check of southern embarkation points indicates almost 100,000 of these already have departed.

Two divisions of natives, raised in east Africa early this year, increased the regular territorial forces of 10,000 men. Altogether the total figure will be raised to 235,000.

COMMUNIQUE ISSUED

The mobilization orders were set forth in the celebrated "Communiqué No. 9," issued by the Ministry of Propaganda.

The communiqué said that "as a consequence of heavy Ethiopian mobilizations" along Italian frontiers, the regular army division called "Asiatica" had been called and would be commanded by Gen. Ricciardi.

It also announced mobilization of the Cosseria division commanded by Gen. Pinor, as well as formation and mobilization of the "Tevere," or sixth blackshirt division, to be created by Lt. Duca since the start of his controversy with Ethiopia.

The communiqué also mentioned creation of the "Trento" division, which will be a mechanized unit to replace the Asiatica division.

Another division, called Cosseria II, was ordered created to replace the original division of that name.

Best Form of National Government Is for People of Canada, to Cap Liberal Victories in Provinces With Election of Liberal Government at Ottawa, Says Party Chieftain as He Outlines His Broad Plans to Increase Employment and Improve Workers' Lot; Proposals Include National Commission, Removal of Trade Barriers and Varied Constructive Works With Pay for Men Now Jobless

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Election of a Liberal government at Ottawa to cap Liberal victories in the provinces would provide the best kind of a national government to cope with industrial and social problems, Liberal Leader Mackenzie King believes. It would ensure co-operation between the federal and provincial governments because all would be of one mind and it would make the elimination of constitutional difficulties easy.

NEW PRESIDENT OF WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

Elected head of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association at its annual convention, Charles A. Barber, editor of The Chilliwack Progress, will be president of the organization until this time next year.

Unemployment was Mr. King's subject in the third and last of his pre-campaign radio speeches broadcast from here yesterday evening. Nationwide co-operation was necessary for a solution of the problem, he declared as he amplified the Liberal policy of a representative national commission to deal with all relief administration and to devise means of providing work for the unemployed.

The men would be paid wages, but on a lower scale than in private undertakings. The commission would enlist the co-operation of all agencies, provincial governments, municipalities and public bodies competent to make a contribution to its aims. It would be able to avoid overlapping and duplication of effort and eliminate relief racketeers and abuses.

TOO BIG FOR ONE MAN

Reviewing the unemployment situation Mr. King said Prime Minister R. B. Bennett had promised to end unemployment in 1930, but unemployment had increased four-fold since then. Mr. Bennett had failed because he had not understood the seriousness of the problem.

Mr. Bennett had tried, Mr. King said, but he had tried to do too much himself. The problem was too big for one man. It required united, nationwide effort such as could be organized under a national commission.

RELIEF CAMP QUESTION

Touching on the relief camp troubles, Mr. King said the camps were breeding grounds of communism and defeatism. The men in them were an easy prey for dangerous agitators. The regime of relief camps had arisen from ruthless handling of the situation.

Under a Liberal government it would be the aim to provide useful work for the unemployed, work in which the men engaged could take pride, such as building roads, improving parks, afforestation, development of airway facilities and slum clearance. All would be directed by the national commission.

"SOCIAL CAPITAL"

All employment provided would be in the nature of constructive work and of a kind which would serve to increase "the social capital of the country as distinct from the private capital."

The commission would also be invited to consider removing the camps from the jurisdiction of the National Defence Department.

TYPHOON RAKES SOUTH CHINA

Second Great Storm Devastates Great Area in Fukien Province; Great Loss of Life Reported.

Associated Press
Amoy, China, Aug. 6.—Southern Fukien province to-day was struck by a second typhoon which ripped inland from the sea, devastating a huge area.

Coming close behind yesterday's hurricane, officials feared a terrific loss of life. The typhoon was regarded as the worst in a quarter of a century.

The brunt of to-day's storm appeared to hit the coast sixty miles south of here, smashing inland over the heavily populated area. All communications were destroyed. The heavy winds on the fringe of the typhoon struck Amoy and wrecked fishing fleets close by.

WORSE THAN 1905 STORM

Fragmentary dispatches from Chuanchow stated yesterday's disaster was the worst in the history of that area, eclipsing the great storm of 1905, when typhonic winds and rains similar to that of yesterday laid the whole area waste.

Yesterday's storm flooded the valleys of the east and west rivers converging at Chuanchow.

Reports which came through said numerous villages were submerged. Haiwel, a small market town northwest of Chuanchow, was reported under twenty-five feet of water.

MANY DROWNED

Heavy loss of life was reported there when hundreds of persons were submerged under a wall of water that poured into a foreign Christian church, where they had taken shelter from the cyclonic winds. The water forced some of them into the open, where they perished. Others took refuge in the pastor's house, which collapsed under the force of the waters.

A report came from Lungyin, 100 miles west of Chuanchow, that bubonic plague had broken out.

Los of the games at Berlin would come close to being a major setback for the Nazi regime, economically as well as politically. Millions of marks are being spent in preparation, with officials counting on an influx of foreign money to stimulate declining business. Informed sources said certain Nazi quarters were convinced there existed among foreign correspondents a scheme to have the international committee cancel the games.

Ethical Practice Is Urged On Druggists

Business of Twenty-third Annual Convention Gets Under Way at Empress Hotel; Speakers Seek Improved Professional Standing

Proper business ethics among Canadian druggists was urged by speakers upon delegates attending the twenty-third annual convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association in the Empress Hotel this morning.

Discussion on professional ethics was promulgated by President J. H. Best of North Battleford, Sask.; Fred G. Brown, Vancouver druggist, and A. J. Wilkinson, Windsor, Ont., chairman of the association council.

Mr. Brown gave a paper on pharmacy development and at the conclusion of his address urged proper respect of business ethics, referring to the practice of installing soda fountains, candy counters, peanut stands and handling of golf equipment.

Mr. Wilkinson realized that these practices were necessary in some instances to make a living but felt more attention should be paid to proper ethics.

President Best contended these extra lines could still be carried in an ethical way, stating "these ethics should be carried in our hearts as well as in the drug stores."

Other important business of the morning included a review of amendments to the British Columbia Pharmacy Act, by J. F. Scott, president of the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association.

Timber Price Cut Protested

B.C. Faces Loss On U.K. Market Through Reductions

British Columbia faced another serious loss in lumber markets to-day and enlisted the aid of Premier Bennett in protests against a reduction in Russian lumber prices which, it is feared, will seriously curtail provincial exports to the United Kingdom.

Premier Pattullo wired Premier Bennett this morning and informed him the timber industry was greatly concerned over the cut in Russian prices and said any action the federal government could take would be greatly appreciated.

He received an immediate reply from Premier Bennett stating the "strongest representations possible" had been made to the high commissioner in London regarding the cuts.

The timber industry, already suffering collapse of the Chinese market and the wiping out of Japanese orders due to tariffs, regarded the Russian situation in Britain with dismay, it was stated.

In the first six months of the year shipments to Britain fell off about 10 per cent from $22,000,000 to $20,000,000 board feet, mainly due to Russian competition, and the new reduction in prices would cut heavily into B.C.'s share of the market, it was believed.

The Japanese market took 42,000,000 feet in the first half of the year and the Chinese 46,000,000 feet, so the combined loss will have a bad reflection in activity of the industry, it was stated.

Last year Britain was B.C.'s best customer, taking 450,000,000 feet out of a total of 859,000,000 feet shipped to overseas markets.

NEW YORK THUGS TAKE CHEQUES

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 6.—Bandits to-day held up two messengers of the Krane Brothers, wholesale grocers, en route to a bank in an automobile, and robbed them of $46,250 in cash and cheques.

DECLARE FEUD AGAINST NAZIS

Associated Press

New York, Aug. 6.—Alleged leaders of the riot aboard the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, July 26, when the Nazi swastika was torn from its mast, asserted to-day that demonstrations will be carried on against every German ship docking at New York until "Nazi persecutions cease" in Germany.

The specific grievance of the leaders, who will be arraigned to-morrow on charges of felonious assault, concerns the alleged imprisonment in Hamburg, Germany, of Lawrence Simpson, United States seaman on the S.S. Manhattan, said to have been taken off the ship by German officials on a charge of distributing anti-Nazi literature while ashore.

The commission would also be invited to consider removing the camps from the jurisdiction of the National Defence Department.

Hearings on B.C. Draft Bill To Be Held; Personnel Announced

Anyone in B.C. who wishes to voice opinions about the health insurance system the provincial government proposes to inaugurate will have the opportunity during the next few months to appear before a special hearing committee, Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, decided to-day as he announced the personnel of the committee.

First meeting of the committee will be held here Thursday, purely for organization purposes. After that public hearings will be arranged in Victoria, Vancouver and at other key cities in the province.

Dr. Alton Feebles, recently appointed as technical adviser to the government on health insurance, will have the chairmanship of the hearings committee. Sitting with him will be Percy R. Benough, general secretary of the Vancouver and District Trades and Labor Council; Miss Grace Fairley, R.N., superintendent of Nurses at Vancouver General Hospital; Dr. Grant Fleming, professor of public health at McGill University and secretary of the committee on economics (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1) prefer an indictment in this case before the grand jury.

 GUARDS AT HOME
 Mr. Hepburn was the first witness called in Walker's preliminary hearing after the accused had elected to be tried by a judge and jury.

So fearful did he become last May for the safety of his wife and mother, Premier Hepburn testified, he had maintained a guard at his Elgin County farm home. Police guards were stationed there some nights, he testified.

Early in his evidence, the Premier said Walker had come forward with charges of alleged irregularities in payrolls at Talbotville, asking that he be investigated. Mr. Hepburn was then a member of the House of Commons and not of the Ontario Legislature. His party was returned to power in Ontario later in 1934.

Man Sent Up For Trial, Charged By Ontario Premier

At a conference between Walker and Vincent T. Foley, London lawyer, and three Liberal party members, Mr. Hepburn, H. C. Nixon and the late Paul Munro, then M.P.P. for South Wellington, Mr. Munro decided to place the charges before the Legislature.

SUM OF $1,000 MENTIONED
 Mr. Hepburn testified that while the public accounts committee of the House was investigating the charges, Walker demanded $1,000, saying "I have put you in the spot and got money, and now we want some from you before we go on." James Gunning, road foreman at Talbotville, later was absolved of any blame when the public accounts committee reported there had been no irregularities.

The Premier said he discussed the matter with Mr. Munro and no money was paid Walker.

Attempts were made to extort money from Mr. Hepburn, Donald McCrimmon and George McLean while the Premier was vacationing last winter in the West Indies, and again this year, it was asserted in the evidence. Mr. McCrimmon and Mr. McLean followed the Premier on the witness stand.

AUTO FATALITY

Vancouver, Aug. 6 (Canadian Press)—Young Sing, Chinese, died here early to-day from injuries he suffered yesterday when struck down by an automobile on Pender Street near Craigall.

Co-operation Is Slogan of Liberals

Early in his address Mr. King quoted Premier R. B. Bennett's campaign to "end unemployment," to "provide work for Canadians—work, he said, not doles," and blaming governments for the unemployment of that time.

Since the Bennett government came into office, Mr. King continued, unemployment had increased. He quoted figures to prove his statements and so "these figures may help you to appreciate why I may be a little more guarded in my language, a little less profuse in my promises and not quite so ready to guarantee what state action can accomplish, as Mr. Bennett, or Mr. Woodsworth, or Mr. Stevens."

NO NATIONAL REGISTER

Since 1930, no efforts had been made to determine the exact number of unemployed people in Canada. Mr. King continued, nothing in the way of a national register.

"There are two explanations," he said. "One is that the government has never appreciated the importance and magnitude of the problem. The other is that it has not known how to go about its solution. In order to conceal the growing magnitude of the problem, and, at the same time, its own growing incapacity to deal with it, the government either did not seek to obtain information which at all times should have been available to the people's representatives in Parliament or it deliberately withheld such information as it had from them."

GROWTH OF TOTAL

In 1930, the Liberal leader continued, Premier Bennett estimated there were 117,000 unemployed in Canada. The census of 1931 placed the number at 392,000. The most conservative estimate to-day placed it at 400,000. "It is at least well within the mark to say that the number of unemployed in Canada to-day is four times what it was when the Bennett government assumed office."

"Those figures dealt only with the unemployed," he said. "In May, 1935, there were 1,372,000 Canadians on relief, unemployed persons and dependents. This reflected something of the extent of Mr. Bennett's failure to redeem his promises to end unemployment and to abolish the dole."

ENORMOUS OUTLAY

From the day Mr. Bennett assumed office until March 31, 1935, the federal government had spent $160,000,000 as its share of relief expenditures. If loans to provinces and guarantees were added, the Dominion's financial responsibility reached $306,000,000—more than had been spent in any year between Confederation and the third year of the World War.

THOUSANDS IN CAMPS

"And what, as a result of all this, is the present situation?" Mr. King asked. "At the end of five years of mounting and colossal expenditure, the numbers of the unemployed are at least four times what they were in September, 1930, and relief is demanded on as great a scale as ever. We find young, homeless, unemployed men congregated by thousands in camps administered by the Department of National Defence."

"We have seen these young men become inflammable material in the hands of unscrupulous agitators; and the camps themselves become, as was inevitable, breeding grounds for Communism and defeatism. The country has witnessed strikes in relief camps in all parts of Canada. It has seen relief strikers and unemployed trekking into cities already overcrowded with men out of work, and hunger marches converging from the provinces upon the capitals as a means of indicating the source of responsibility and redress."

RUTHLESS HANDLING

"But, more than all this, the ruthless manner in which in some particular, the situation has been handled, has led to riot, serious injury, and loss of life. The irony of the situation must be apparent to all, when it is recalled that it was at Regina, in the general election of 1930, that Mr. Bennett, seeking to arouse the passions of the unemployed and to prejudice their minds against the government which was then in office, used the words: 'Nine years of wasted effort before the great betrayal; it did not take Judas that long.'"

"It was also in Regina that, for political purposes, the unemployed were first banded together, and supplied with white buttons, and organized to interrupt political meetings."

LIBERAL POLICY

"To cope with this nation-wide situation, the Liberal Party proposes, if returned to power, to adopt the policies which it has consistently advocated, and which are set forth in the paragraph that appears as the first item in the statement of the Party's position, which I read to you on Friday evening last," said Mr. King. "Let me read that paragraph to you again. You will recall that the statement was first given publicly after it was made in the House of Commons on February 27, 1933. The paragraph is as follows: 'Unemployment of first concern. The Liberal Party believes unemployment is Canada's most urgent national problem. It would deal with the present emergency conditions through a representative national commission, which would co-operate with the provinces and municipalities in the administration of unemployment relief and in an endeavor to provide work for the unemployed.'"

REVIVAL OF TRADE

"As permanent measures, the Liberal Party is pledged to introduce policies which will serve to provide employment by reviving industry and trade; and to introduce a national system of unemployment insurance."

BROAD PROJECTS

"The programme to which a national commission would be asked by a Liberal government especially to direct its attention, with a view to ensuring co-operative effort, would include necessary projects already contemplated or perhaps yet to be developed, such as: public works, buildings and municipal improvements; the extension and improvement of highways, and the elimination of level crossings; the provision of airway facilities and ground services; large-scale schemes of afforestation, aimed, among other things, at preventing those conditions of drought and soil drifting which follow on the absence or wholesale destruction of tree life."

nizes that a solution of the unemployment problem must be sought in two directions. Long-range policies and immediate measures must be instituted which, through a revival of trade and industry, will serve to bring about a measure of prosperity. This, of itself, by providing employment, will more effectively than anything else reduce unemployment.

"It must be clear that expenditures for the purpose of relief, or for providing employment at the instance of the state, cannot be continued indefinitely. Only by removing the restrictions which have throttled and strangled the movement of goods into and out of the country, and through persistent and persuasive endeavor to regain markets which have been closed against us, and to discover new markets, can there come a revival of trade and business, and the return of work for the men and women of our land."

CONFIDENCE NEEDED

"Confidence in the institutions of government, certainty and stability in the administration of public business, are also essential to recovery. Release from, rather than increase of the burden of the cost of government—reductions, rather than increases, in taxation; co-operation and good will between the federal and provincial administrations, and between all parts and classes of the country, must also be secured if commerce and industry are to revive."

The Canadian Patriotic Fund, established during the war to care for soldiers' dependents, and the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, established after the war, were organizations which would serve as guides for the proposed national commission on unemployment, said Mr. King. Under these large sums were expended under a careful audit and with the co-operation of many agencies.

TWO DIVISIONS

"There will necessarily be two main divisions in the commission's work," explained Mr. King. "The one will have to do with the administration of unemployment relief. The other will have to do with the endeavor to provide work for the unemployed. Under the guidance and direction of the commission, steps will be taken to mobilize the agencies for relief, both state and voluntary, and so to co-ordinate their work as to avoid overlapping, relief rackets and abuses and to secure a proper supervision and auditing of the expenditure of all monies."

CO-ORDINATION

"Similarly, in the endeavor to provide employment, effort will be made to mobilize and co-ordinate the agencies for employment, and to bring their offices in providing work. The services of all departments of the federal government will be made available to the commission in any and all phases of its work. The Liberal Party has no reason to doubt the services of all departments of the federal government will be made equally available. A guarantee of provincial co-operation is to be found in the fact that, save in one province, out of nine, Liberal governments are already in office."

HAVE NO LEADER

"Perhaps this will appeal to the advocates of national government. At the moment they are embarrassed in directing their energies to practical ends, through being unable to say what the national government's policies are to be, and in not having a leader, or knowing just where one is to be found. The National Government Party, thus far, has only a name. Mr. Stevens has done better than that."

REAL NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

"Would it be possible to conceive a finer example of the kind of national government necessary to cope with the social and industrial problems, which depend for their solution so completely on the co-operation of federal and provincial governments, than would be afforded by a national government in Canada? Liberal governments in all the provinces of Canada? It would seem this is the kind of national government which the people of Canada really want; a government, in the dominion and provinces alike, that will be able to give expression to the will of the people, unmistakably expressed at the polls."

With all governments in Canada Liberal, constitutional difficulties might be removed as J. S. Woodworth and the C.C.F. would wish, said Mr. King. He asked where could commonwealth better attained than by having all governments in Canada of one mind.

DIFFER ON METHODS

"The Liberal Party has made it abundantly clear in Parliament that there is no issue between Mr. Bennett and ourselves on the need for social reform," declared the Liberal leader. "The result is a clear-cut and fundamental difference in relation to the vital question of economic recovery."

"Mr. Bennett must know by now that no broad scheme of social reform can be carried through successfully in Canada without close co-operation between the Dominion and the provinces; and that, to ignore the provinces, or deliberately to invade their constitutional rights, is a dangerous result on the foundations of our national life."

RECOVERY AND REFORM

"The trouble with Mr. Bennett's social reform programme is that Mr. Bennett has not distinguished between reform and recovery. He has said that recovery must come before social reform. The truth is, there is no relation of cause and effect between reform and recovery. As respects cause and effect, the situation is precisely the opposite. Economic recovery is essential to social reform. It is the one and only sure foundation for the successful establishment and continuous operation of social services."

Whatever employment was created, said Mr. King, should be of service to the state and calculated to give those employed pride in their work.

BROAD PROJECTS

"The programme to which a national commission would be asked by a Liberal government especially to direct its attention, with a view to ensuring co-operative effort, would include necessary projects already contemplated or perhaps yet to be developed, such as: public works, buildings and municipal improvements; the extension and improvement of highways, and the elimination of level crossings; the provision of airway facilities and ground services; large-scale schemes of afforestation, aimed, among other things, at preventing those conditions of drought and soil drifting which follow on the absence or wholesale destruction of tree life."

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

President Best, in his annual report, deferred reference to the year's activities as this would be covered in other reports.

He mentioned the present policy of the association which marked a change in pharmaceutical thought and endeavor and also was a move to improve the professional standing of the members.

BEAUTIFICATION PLANS

"Equally important is the preservation, in more ways than one, of what we now have of natural beauty. Above all else, would be a comprehensive scheme of urban and rural improvements. Such a scheme would appropriately include the clearance of slum areas, housing programmes, the painting and repair of buildings and fences, both in the cities and the country, and of scenic development, which would serve to make Canada a country second to none for tourists and to afford to the people fuller opportunities of recreation and the enjoyment of natural beauty."

NEW TREES-WAYS

"Indeed, all projects might readily be made to contribute to these ends. The interests of tourists and the enjoyment of our citizens generally could, for example, be promoted by making many a highway into a free-way, and by making accessible and improving approaches to areas of great natural beauty. The development of our national parks might well be supplemented by the creation of a larger number of smaller parks. Much of national importance might also be accomplished by the preservation of historic sites and monuments and the beautification of their surroundings."

"All this could be worked out by the commission as part of a long-range scheme of national development, to be dependent on, or conditioned, from time to time, as conditions might determine. The employment which it would serve to create would be all in the nature of constructive work. Comprehensive measures of the kind would serve to increase the confidence of the citizen as distinct from his private capital. It would improve and beautify our country. Moreover, it is work which would appeal to the imagination, and which should arouse the interest and enthusiasm of those who may be assigned to it."

WOULD BUILD CITIZENSHIP

"Especially would co-ordinated effort of the kind make its appeal to the single, homeless, unemployed, who engaged in such work would be able to feel they were citizens in every sense of the word, and engaged on the country's work," said Mr. King.

"While, necessarily, there must be a difference in the rate of payment to persons employed on the state than that paid to persons employed by private enterprise, so that there will always be an inducement for men to enter private occupations as opportunities arise, wages should be paid for this class of service."

PERMANENT ESTABLISHMENT

"The commission would be especially requested to consider the early transfer of the relief camps from the control of the Department of National Defence, and to enlist the co-operation of every possible agency likely to be of service in the permanent establishment of young unemployed men in the normal economic life of the country."

LIFE-LONG INTEREST

Mr. King referred to his own life-long interest in labor and social problems. It was this interest which led to his appointment as Canada's first Deputy Minister of Labor and his later entry into the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as Minister of Labor. During all that time, and later, during the last sixteen years as Liberal leader, he had enjoyed the confidence and loyalty of the Liberal Party. He attached this confidence to his interest in the problems of labor and he could say with assurance that he had been true to the cause of the working man.

BENNETT'S FAILURE

"Unemployment is the hardest cross which a working man is called upon to bear," said Mr. King. "Mr. Bennett has tried to solve that problem, but he has failed to do so. I think, too, that he has been too much alone. I think, too, that his methods and policies have been at fault. The problems of labor cannot be solved by any one man; they require more than any other problem, united effort."

"Their solution, moreover, will not be found in endless experimentation, but only in the application of principles and policies which have stood the test of experience and time. Even in a period of great emergency, such as the present, it is too much to hope to secure the united effort of all, united in the effort of a political party united in its aims and policies from one end of the country to the other can go a long way towards effecting even that result."

WHOLE-HEARTED SERVICE

"Of this, at least, I am sure, the task which confronts Canada to-day is one to which Liberalism can give its whole heart."

"To those who have been wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke, is, if anything, more the aim of Liberalism in this twentieth century than it was even in ancient days."

"It is with this aim in view, and in this spirit," concluded Mr. King, "that as one of the old political parties of Canada, with traditions of which we are proud, and the desire to render our country at this hour of its great need a service which is truly national, we invite all who desire to do so, in larger measure than the burden of their fellowmen, to join our ranks, so that, if entrusted with power, the party may, with greater certainty, achieve the objects which it has in view."

PETITION MUST BE CIRCULATED

Esquimalt Council Replies to Request for Higher Relief Scale

The Esquimalt Council is still of the opinion that a petition must be circulated among the ratepayers of the municipality before any increase in relief payments is made, it was stated at yesterday evening's meeting of the council, following receipt of a letter from the C.C.F. Unemployed Council.

The letter stated that such a petition had been circulated early last year, and that some 600 names had then been secured, and suggested that this document was suitable to the council's decision of its last session that a petition must be obtained. Councillor F. G. Eaton expressed himself as firmly in support of an increase in payments, stating that he himself would feel the effects of a possible rise in taxation seriously, and that nevertheless he appreciated the immediate need for such an increase.

Councillor Albert Head stated that in proposing the motion in favor of a petition at the last session he had done so with the understanding that the document would contain an explanation of what the proposed payment would mean in the way of higher taxation. He considered that the increase would hit very hard upon certain ratepayers who were perhaps in straiter circumstances than some of the unemployed.

MAYOR ATTENDS TAX CONFERENCE

Accompanied by D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller - treasurer, Mayor David Leeming yesterday evening left Victoria for Vancouver, where they will meet Vancouver officials in a discussion of taxation methods and their possible revision to relieve municipalities and land of the main burden.

T. J. Goodlake, president of the Real Estate Board of Victoria; James Forman and J. W. Jones were scheduled to take part in the deliberations set for 10 o'clock this morning. Vancouver aldermen, members of the Vancouver Real Estate Exchange, and other prominent citizens will attend the meeting.

Rush Work On Sewer Trouble

Work on the relaying of the sewer in Skinner's Flats, Esquimalt, a spot which has been the subject of adverse reports from the municipal engineer and health officer, will be rushed ahead as soon as possible, it was indicated at yesterday evening's meeting of the municipal council.

It was stated that the ground was being surveyed by the municipal and provincial engineers, and that reports would be on hand at once. To expedite the work, a special meeting will be called shortly to give final reading to a by-law authorizing an unemployment relief work loan from the provincial government to the extent of $5,500 to cover the work. The by-law received preliminary readings yesterday evening.

The situation in the flats has been brought about by the sinking of the present sewer in the marshy land, and consequent seepage at the joints, and will demand complete relaying of the pipe.

MOON LIKENED TO PORRIDGE

Philip Hughes Explains Craters by Simile; Has Huge Mountains

The moon was like a boiling mass of porridge, whose surface had hardened when cooling down, said Philip Hughes in explaining the seas and craters, when he took the Victoria Astronomical Society on a two-hour trip to the earth's satellite during yesterday evening's summer study class.

Some people believed that the craters had been caused by meteoric bombardment. There was once a cavity being formed by this method on the earth, Mr. Hughes said. However, the crater was only three-quarters of a mile across and 500 feet deep, while the craters on the moon were from fifty to 100 miles wide and thousands of feet deep.

Already 500 names had been given to different parts of the moon, the speaker declared. The two eyes of the "man in the moon" were the Seas of Serenity and Tranquility. The Alps, Caucasus and Appennines on the moon had far bigger mountains than their namesakes on earth. The highest mountain range on the moon was the Leibnitz range whose mountains towered 40,000 feet above the valleys.

The names of the great Greeks were immortalized on the moon. Copernicus, Archimedes, and Plato were craters. Hipparchus and Ptolemy were two of the largest craters, while the great crater Tycho could be distinguished by the queer rays it sent out when the moon was full. This was probably due to some cracks in the crater, which were covered with brilliant stones.

THIRTY-DAY DAY

The day and night on the moon were thirty days long, Mr. Hughes said, and in the day time the heat reached boiling point, while at night it was freezing cold.

"One advantage in living on the moon, its that you would have no radio troubles," the lecturer declared. "In fact you would have no radio reception at all because there is no atmosphere on the moon."

The moon, he went on to explain, was too small to hold an atmosphere. What little she had escaped, for the force of gravity on the moon was only one-sixth of that on earth.

There was far more moonlight in winter than in summer, Mr. Hughes said. This was due to the fact that the moon was high in winter and low in summer. But the moonlight at any rate was not worth much for it was only one six hundred thousandth times as bright as sun light. Earth light on the moon was fourteen times as bright as moonlight on the earth.

Though the moon was a strange queer world to an inhabitant of the earth, the earth would appear equally strange to a man on the moon. He could always see the earth—it did not bob away behind the moon—and it was a huge disc in the sky, four times as big as the sun.

However, though it was so big the man on the moon could not distinguish the continents on account of the heavy atmosphere about the earth which would tend to blur them. The earth would also look reddish on account of its atmosphere.

Lieutenant Commander F. E. Tingey, vice-president of the society, introduced the speaker and presided during the meeting.

SINKING FUND INVESTMENTS

Subject for Congratulation, Says Reeve Lockley of Esquimalt

"The investment of our sinking funds is a subject on which we can congratulate ourselves," Reeve Alexander Lockley told the Esquimalt Council at their meeting last night when the investment of a total of $6,000 from the sewer loan and high school sinking funds was under consideration.

The Reeve's remark followed an attack by Councillor T. Harry Hodgson on the system of investment, by which the brokers had received notice in advance of the municipality's intention of going into the market for bonds.

FRONTAGE RATE DOWN

Councillor Albert Head, chairman of the finance committee, stated that the fact of a reduction from eleven cents to eight cents per foot front in the frontage rates during the last three years was proof of the soundness of the municipality's sewer sinking fund investments.

The council finally decided to purchase $5,000 of the municipality's own 3 per cent sewer loan bonds, due in 1962, at $9.50, yielding 9 1/2 per cent, as a sewer loan sinking fund investment, from Pemberton & Sons. The company offered $7,000 worth of these bonds at the rate quoted.

For the high school sinking fund, they authorized the buying of $1,000 of 6 per cent Esquimalt bonds, due in 1942, at $9.25 from C. S. Henley and Company, to yield 7 1/8 per cent.

Offers of bonds, both municipal and provincial, were received from five companies.

Sloan Funeral Set For Friday

Body of Pioneer Mine Manager to Be Buried in Burnaby

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—A funeral service for the late David Sloan will be conducted in St. Paul's Church Friday at 2:30 p.m., with Rev. George Biddle officiating. Interment will be in the Masonic cemetery, Burnaby.

Mr. Sloan died in the Vancouver General Hospital Sunday afternoon, five days after a plane crashed while taking off from Alta Lake for Vancouver, carrying Pilot W. R. McCluskey and Dean R. W. Brook of the University of British Columbia to almost instant death and fatally injuring Mrs. Brook.

Mr. Sloan was managing director of the Pioneer Gold Mines of British Columbia Limited, and president of the Wayside Consolidated Gold Mines Limited, and the B.C. Nickel Mines Limited. He held other lesser positions in various mining enterprises.

Associated Press
San Francisco, Aug. 6.—The State Supreme Court denied a petition brought by Tom Mooney yesterday offering $100,000 bail for temporary release from prison so he might aid at the taking of depositions in the east for his habeas corpus application. William F. Cleary, deputy attorney-general, said: "This petition is not presented in good faith. I feel it is obvious the Supreme Court cannot be asked to release a man in a state prison and send him outside the state's jurisdiction. In effect, that would be assisting in his escape." The application also said expenses of Mooney's proposed trip and of all necessary guards would be paid by defenders of the imprisoned former iron moulder, who is serving a life term for the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing.

The Official Start of Triton Test Car 6,000-Mile Run.

THE claim that Triton Motor Oil has longer life than Eastern or Western Oils is now confirmed in a report made for the Union Oil Company of Canada Limited by Dr. W. F. Seyer, Prominent B.C. Petroleum Chemist. Here is a brief summary of his report:

"The solution of the problem of isolating the most desirable hydro-carbon constituents which are present in all crude oils, both Eastern and Western, has been achieved by the Union Oil Company Research and Development Staff. In the opinion of the writer, this represents one of the most outstanding achievements in the history of the development of lubricating oils. The writer visited the Ocum plant where Triton Motor Oil is manufactured and also the Union Research Laboratories, and investigated the nature and results of tests made in establishing the claim that Triton has LONGER LIFE than Eastern or Western Oils. He has satisfied himself that these tests substantiate fully the claims made concerning the high quality of their Triton Motor Oil.

"These claims were confirmed in both laboratory and road tests carried out in British Columbia under the close supervision of the writer. Part of this test included the driving of a Chevrolet car (1933 model) 6000 miles over British Columbia highways and through traffic, under ordinary driving conditions. Triton, Eastern and Western Oils were used alternately and the three oils tested before and after use. These road tests, although limited in degree, fully confirmed the claim that Triton Motor Oil has Longer Life."

UNEMPLOYMENT

QUITE PROPERLY, MR. MACKENZIE
King continues to regard unemployment as Canada's gravest problem. In the fall of 1930, when Premier Bennett estimated the number of idle workers at less than 120,000, the Opposition Leader warned the country that the fiscal policies of the then newly-installed government would merely aggravate a situation which at that time was one which could be cured by business-like methods.

Mr. Bennett refused the advice of the Prime Minister whom he succeeded. At the regular session in 1931—after Mr. Bennett had been over to London and thumped the Imperial Conference table—Mr. King urged upon the new government the appointment of a competent impartial national commission to study the unemployment situation from every point of view and give the Prime Minister and his colleagues the benefit of its findings. This advice of Mr. King fell on deaf ears. On two subsequent occasions in the House of Commons, as the problem became graver from month to month, the Opposition Leader repeated his plea; but it was of no avail.

During his address over the radio yesterday, Mr. King went to the root of the economic trouble from which Canada is suffering most seriously at the present time—the strangulation of external trade which has been brought about by this country's most active participation in the world's belief that commercial nationalism will pay, that it is possible to get by on a one-way trade. This is to say, that there is abroad a twentieth-century belief that a nation can keep its economic head above the commercial waters by selling as much as possible and buying in minimum value and volume. On this point Mr. King said yesterday:

"Only by removing the restrictions which have throttled and strangled the movement of goods into and out of the country, and through persistent and persuasive endeavor to regain markets which have been closed against us, and to discover new markets, can there come a revival of trade and business, and the return of work for the men and women of our land."

There must be freedom of action in the matter of trade and commerce with the countries of the world that desire to purchase the commodities which Canada produces. But if Canada wants to put her goods on the international counter for all to inspect, she naturally must be prepared to carry her own inspection to the business counters of the world. Trade, after all, is an exchange of goods. The greater the exchange of goods, the greater the demand for labor—the solution of the unemployment problem.

DAVID SLOAN SUCCEUMS

THE LAST TRAGIC SEQUEL TO THE
airplane disaster at Alta Lake came yesterday with the death of David Sloan, managing director of the Pioneer mine. Mr. Sloan made a gallant fight against numerous injuries, but he was handicapped by indifferent health before the accident and from the outset there was grave doubt that he would survive.

David Sloan's death inflicts a serious loss upon the province. He was an exceptionally able mining operator and executive, and to his vision, courage and shrewdness may be attributed much of the extraordinary progress which has been made by the mining industry in recent years. He was a dominant factor in the development of the Pioneer mine, which under his direction evolved from an uncertain project into one of the famous properties of the continent. Nor did he confine his interests to the Bridge River district. He devoted money, energy and skill to other promising sections, and was actively interested in the development of the nickel property near Hope by the B.C. Nickel Mines Limited, of which he was president.

Mr. Sloan was born in Perth, Ontario, which also was the birthplace of Dean R. W. Brock. He likewise attended Queen's University, Kingston, where he graduated in mining engineering. Although he and Dean Brock were not contemporaries at the university, the latter being seven years Mr. Sloan's senior, there was an intimate friendship between them and it is a remarkable coincidence that their lives, which touched one another at so many points, should end in the same tragic circumstances.

The untimely termination of these two careers, the greater part of which was so directly linked with the development and progress of one of our basic industries, leaves a gap which it will be hard to fill. The widespread sympathy which was tendered to the relatives of Dr. and Mrs. Brock, and Pilot McCuskey, will go unstintingly also to the widow and children of Mr. Sloan.

THE SENATORIAL QUIZZ

A COMMITTEE OF THE UNITED States Senate has been investigating the lobby conducted by big power interests against the passage of the utility holding companies legislation from which certain vital teeth were removed by Congress against the wishes of the President. The committee has discovered that more than a million dollars were spent in this lobby, and the executives of the companies have been spending some very unpleasant hours on the witness stand. Just where the money went has not been shown in detail, but eventually the inquiry will shed a bright white light upon the manner in which big corporations operate when they want measures passed or defeated by Congress.

Senate committee investigations at Washington are invariably very sharp and comprehensive. They are no respecters of persons either, and when they want to quiz some potentate of finance or impressive socialite they send for him and he must appear. If he does not answer questions put to him satisfactorily he goes to jail. If he gives false evidence he may find himself charged with perjury. Campaign fund contributions were under inquiry some time ago and some interesting disclosures were made.

A few investigations of this kind might profitably be conducted in Canada, both federally and provincially. They would speedily put an end to practices which tend to lower the standard of Canadian public life, particularly to backstairs lobbying in the interest of special privilege or government largess. This is something the press of Canada might properly insist upon. It certainly is what the general public wants.

THE TRAGEDY AT ANYOX

THE PASSING OF A GREAT MINE, LIKE
the passing of a great man, arrests our attention. The Anyox mine of the Granby Consolidated in northern British Columbia was finally closed a few days ago because the remaining deposits, though of immense size, are too low in grade to pay. Thus passes a mine that has been operated on a large scale since 1914.

The story of Anyox is related briefly in the August bulletin of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy by Mr. N. E. Nelson, the company's geologist. The copper smelter was established on the shore in 1914, and from the various mines clustered round Granby Bay shipments on a steadily increasing scale were made, rising from half a million tons in 1915 to 1,750,000 tons in 1934. A substantial community was thus supported at Anyox for twenty-one years, which purchased large amounts of supplies from British Columbia and other provinces, substantial dividends were distributed to the Granby shareholders. Now the final dividend, still a substantial one, is to be paid out of the surplus and the company will be wound up.

It is interesting to note that the name "Granby" comes from the little manufacturing town in the eastern townships of Quebec, where the first financial sponsors of the company lived. Chief among these was the late Mr. W. H. Miner, who supported the company's first venture at Rossland, B.C., through thick and thin until finally it was on its feet. Granby's operations in the Boundary district made a great deal of money before they passed into the realm of history. Now the second and larger venture is ended, after an equally honorable and profitable career of twenty-one years.

It is gratifying to note, however, that the provincial government is exerting itself in the hope that Anyox will not fall into decay, that work in the mine still may be continued.

PLANE INDUSTRY

THE UNITED STATES BUREAU OF AIR
Commerce is going to continue with its efforts to develop a foolproof airplane that the ordinary man can fly without rinking his neck.

Eugene L. Vidal, director of the bureau, made this clear in a speech before the recent convention of the National Association of Aviation Editors in Detroit; and after he had made his speech, all hands went out to a flying field to have a look at a freakish new plane that had been built to meet these specifications.

This plane can not go into a stall and "fall off on one wing"—the prelude to a tailspin, which accounts for fully 70 per cent of all accidents to private flyers. It can not nose over when it is landed, no matter how unskillfully the job is done. The rawest pupil flyer can take it off the ground and get it down again without cracking up.

Just what may happen to this plane in the course of further tests is, of course, problematical. It may develop new "bugs" quite as dangerous as the old ones which it seems to have dodged. But it is clear that it represents a long step in the right direction, and Mr. Vidal's campaign is amply justified.

The ordinary citizen does not often have occasion to ride in one of the great transport planes. When he does, he gets a good, safe ride, to be sure; but if aviation is ever to assume in his life a place comparable to that which the automobile now holds, the kind of plane desired by Mr. Vidal will have to be perfected.

To-day's planes are practically foolproof—in the hands of expert fliers. But John Citizen has neither the time nor the money to make an expert out of himself, and as long as it takes highly specialized skill to fly a plane he is going to pass it by.

What he needs is a truly foolproof plane; one which approaches the automobile in safety and simplicity of operation. Let such a plane be put on the market at a moderate price—$700 is the figure Mr. Vidal aims at—and the airplane industry will make the same kind of sensational leap ahead that the auto industry made a couple of decades ago.

There are great possibilities in this. Flying is incomparably the greatest sport ever devised. Let it be made available to the ordinary man on the same sort of terms that motoring is now available, and the whole course of human living will be profoundly altered.

The oldest and vainest day-dream of the race would suddenly come true.

by Edgar A. Guest

WHEN BABY LAUGHS OR CRIES

When baby laughs the mother stands enraptured by the lulling sound; The care, once heavy in her hands, Falls like a feather to the ground. Old heartaches cease to sting and smart And dreaded troubles disappear. When baby laughs the griefs depart And clouded skies begin to clear.

When baby laughs all else is well; The world with beauty seems aglow. The mother gets a resting spell From all the cares that mothers know. The old anxieties are stilled By that brief bit of rapture sweet. When baby laughs the room is filled With peace exquisite and complete.

When baby cries the mother flies In terror to the little cot. Here is a care of such a size Past sorrows are remembered not. Behold, how suddenly she drops The woes that fretted her before. When baby cries all memory stops Till mother sees a smile once more. (Copyright, 1935, Edgar A. Guest)

Loose Ends

We take the election calmly—but out in the great open spaces democracy still lives on—and politics is real and earnest—and a candidate must have a sure technique and a strong stomach.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THROES

THIS GREAT country of ours is now, ladies and gentlemen, in the throes of a general election. But you, living in the cities, don't know it, except as a kind of distant rumor. You get your democracy on a silver platter and don't appreciate it. If you were living in the country now, you would find that politics is made of sterner stuff. Out there, beyond the pavement, real democracy is still in flower. People are stirred by the election, families divided, neighbor's hand turned against neighbor in the burning issues of the day. Out there life is real and life is earnest, never with you the only real problem of the moment is this dull weather which is no good for August holidays. And with me the clouded skies, on the eve of a fishing trip into the wilderness, fill me with far more horror than all the political parties combined.

Your city politician, indeed, never really finds out what politics is like, never fully earns his indemnity as the boys do out in the sticks, never feels the real stuff of democracy, or gets down to basic things. Here in the city a man just wanders through a campaign like a child through a field of daisies. There he has to fight every inch of the way, day and night. Why, his very approach to a village is a manoeuvre which may win or lose him the election. No man, for example, would think of campaigning through the great interior of British Columbia in a new automobile, such as a candidate may use with impunity here. His car must be several years old and covered with mud. Shiny new cars, driven by chauffeurs, have ruined more campaigns than all the budgets and taxes on record.

FINE POINTS

NOR MUST the candidate be too well dressed himself. If he comes from a city and is more or less invading a country riding—as a number of gentry are doing in this election—he must be all the more particular not to appear too fastidious. It is a nice point, however, for your country electors do not want a hayseed either. They want just the right balance between country simplicity and urban intelligence (for the myth of intelligence centring in the city is still strong in the country, a deep, misguided instinct which lives on despite all that has happened).

Having acquired the proper car and the proper exterior appearance, having learned to look not too rich and not too poor, having obliterated all traces of the Union Club and the Oak Bay golf links, your candidate is now ready to enter his constituency. But his very entry may ruin him. He must, for instance, know which hotel is owned by a follower of his party and go there direct, though it be the worst in town.

What touring candidates and cabinet ministers have suffered in British Columbia from this necessity passes all understanding. I remember once, when I was a young man, going through a campaign with the one and only John Oliver, and what we endured is one of those nameless episodes of privation such as few men survive at all. But I was young then, and Mr. Oliver could survive anything.

In one town, however, through a misunderstanding, I went to the Conservative hotel which, I am bound to say, was the only habitable one in town. The revolution of local feeling against the Liberal Party was serious. It was intimated to me that I should move. Not being a strong party man in those days, I refused to budge. I have always thought that the overwhelming defeat of the Liberal candidate in that riding was due to my stubbornness. It was weighed heavily on my mind ever since. And one time, with the late Mr. Bowser I had to sleep in a hall bedroom in a rooming house over a beer parlor for several nights; for which contribution to its great principles and causes I do not think the Conservative Party has ever fully rewarded me.

STRATEGY

ANYWAY, having approached the village, and found his way into the right hotel, the candidate must proceed with caution. The idea that he reels through the country setting up drinks for the boys, kissing babies by the gross and ogling all the farmers' wives is out of date. This is not done any more. It is all right to take a few of the fellows up to the hotel bedroom and offer them a drink, but these are serious times and frivolity is resented.

The key men of local politics—Jim Smith, the druggist, who wants to get his girl a stenographer's job at the government agent's office, Ed Brown, the hardware man, who would like to sell some nails and bolts for the new bridge down the road, Sid Jones, the farmer, who wants to sell his milk to the government hospital—the key men of local politics may take a drink, but they are more interested in party principles, the larger public issues of the day.

They impress on you that there is no use trying to win this constituency without promising to build the road to Siwash Point and cutting the rates on the ferry across the lake. The candidate also learns that if all the strength of the party is to be rallied together behind its great cause, it is highly necessary that Bill Sperling shall get a beer license for his hotel, that Ned Wright shall be given a job in the liquor store and that the bounties on coyotes be raised.

TECHNIQUE

THESE NECESSARY arrangements having been made, or promised, the candidate is ready to greet the electors on the platform. Here the finest technique, the most delicate perception, the surest sense of atmosphere are essential. Let him remember that these people, unlike their brethren of the city, have come here with full and trusting hearts. They believe. They have faith which years of disappointment and disillusionment cannot dim.

Everybody comes to the meeting for miles around; but do not let this flatter you too much. The same people will flock into town to hear your opposing candidate next week. There are no movies, none of the distractions of the city. The people depend on a few political meetings for diversion. Mothers take their children (who snicker and lick all-day suckers and crawl about the floor). Youngsters take their girls (and giggle all evening, having come only to enjoy the dance which the wise candidate will provide, at his own expense, afterwards). Mrs. Withers comes with her trumpet, a recognized authority on Conservative politics because she once shook the hand of Sir John A. Macdonald as a tiny tot in Ontario. Most of the dogs of the country come and sniff about, as if the principles of the party rather offended their noses.

DEAD JOKES

LET NOT the candidate be discouraged by the cold silence that greets him. Your country audience does not get excited. It does not cheer. It does not applaud. It takes its politics too seriously for that. And nothing, I suppose, save death itself, is quite as deadly as an inexperienced orator working himself up into a frenzy of emotion and then pausing for a burst of applause that comes not. Nothing is more appalling in the whole realm of nature than thirty people packed in a tiny schoolroom looking at you coldly after you have told your best joke.

In the dead silence you can hear the horses cropping the grass outside, the wind rustling in the poplar trees, the heavy breathing of Mrs. Withers, and the click of Jim Barnley's teeth

Leave this for a day or so, to give every crumb on the premises time to assemble, and then come, either early in the morning or after dusk, with a pall of boiling water, lift the lid off and pour it over the pile, and every single one will be instantaneously destroyed, and also the millions of eggs laid in twenty-four hours, which flies will not account for. It is an extra pretension to lay an earthwork of sawdust around the trap, with one or two gaps through which they run inside, and before doing the main job, wet this thoroughly with the scalding water, in case one or two escape. If an odd one or two does escape, put another similar lure in another place, and you will get the last one.

NEW DEAL ENIGMA

To the Editor:—Speaking of New Deal for Vancouver Island, what about the removal to New Westminster by the Ottawa government of the Federal Public Works Department which had been here for forty years? There was not a chip of protest from The Colonist or others who now are calling for a New Deal. What about the West Coast Road, construction on which was started by the Liberal provincial government prior to 1929, and stopped by the Toimie government? Not only did your contemporary not protest but it actually attacked the project. When a Tory government is involved New Deal enthusiasm sinks to zero. A study of the public accounts of the province during the Toimie regime, when some of the most ardent present New Dealers were on the government's payroll, would shed much light upon the latest agitation.

To the Editor:—Owing to a very serious situation which has arisen regarding soldier settlers under the tomato marketing scheme, may I appeal through the courtesy of your columns to all soldier settlers, both on the island and on the mainland, who are tomato growers under glass to please get in touch with me immediately. I am making this appeal through the press, as I am not aware of the names and addresses of soldier settlers.

Undoubtedly the marketing boards are here to stay, and equally undoubtedly they can be of great value to producers and consumers, but the whole matter wants looking into very carefully, especially from the point of view of the soldier settlers.

Wide Variety For Horse Show Events

Variety will spice all three evening performances at the 1935 horse show to be staged at the Willows during the annual fair of the British Columbia Agricultural Association from September 7 to 14, according to the programme released by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the association.

Dr. M. Sparrow, of the livestock branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, will judge all classes.

The horse show will open on Wednesday evening, September 11, and continue for the next two days. This year, in arranging the events, the committee has spaced them in such a manner that various types of mounts and heavy animals will participate in the contests each evening.

Two-horse heavy draft teams will be seen in the opening event Wednesday evening. Each animal will weigh over 1,600 pounds. Lighter animals will follow in the novice saddle horse class, competing for the first and second prizes donated by F. Norris and Sons and by W. H. Mearns, respectively.

Ponies from thirteen to fifteen hands, ridden by children under sixteen, will follow in contests for cash awards.

ACTION EVENTS
The best pair of saddle horses will be determined in the following competition before lady riders put hunters through their paces. Hunting pairs will strive for prizes donated by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Todd. In the seventh event saddle horses will walk, trot and canter in a special event for cash awards, and as the final feature riders will compete in the touch-and-go sweepstake, carrying prizes of $80 for first, $30 for second and $20 for third. That event is being sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hamwood, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, Major and Mrs. J. E. Matthews, W. F. A. Hudson, David Spencer Limited and Commander C. H. R. Slingsby. The horses will be ridden over five jumps.

On Thursday evening the show will open with a prize cattle parade in which the cream of the stock assembled at the Willows barns will pass in review.

Four-horse heavy draft teams, with each weighing over 1,400 pounds, will be seen next before young contestants under twelve seek honors in the children's riding competition in which horsemanship alone will count.

PONIES TO BE SHOWN
Middleweight hunters will follow in their respective events, and ponies other than Shetlands will be seen in the ensuing contest.

Lightweight hunters and hunting teams will be put over the jumps as riders seek prizes put up by Mrs. J. A. Rithet and Dr. J. D. Hunter, respectively.

As the closing feature jumpers will face an eight jump test in the Victoria course event for the awards put up by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johnson. For the closing night's show on Friday, the committee has arranged to start the programme with the colorful six-horse heavy draft teams in action. Road hacks will be judged next before children under fifteen seek horsemanship laurels, symbolized by prizes donated by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tarrow.

A saddle horse contest for animals of 13.2 hands and under will be held before children claim the spotlight again to contest four jumps for the silver cup donated by Princess Chikmatoff, a second prize of scrip put up by the Hudson's Bay Company and third ribbon.

HANDY HUNTERS
Handy hunters will be seen next in a six-jump event sponsored by Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins, president of the association.

Jumpers will again come to the fore for the Mallet's Limited contest over two post and rail jumps, twice around, before the colorful Grafton broad jump, sponsored by Scott and Peden, is staged.

Winding up the show will be the championship class competition for the trophy donated by Mrs. Fred Robertson. The prize award will go to the best horse or pony of its type in the show, and will be selected from a line of first and second place winners only.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1910
(From The Times Files)

The streets committee of the City Council decided that the work of excavating Yates Street between Douglas and Blanshard, shall be done by day labor under the direction of the city engineer, whose estimate of the cost of the work was $1,900 lower than the bid of the lowest tender by contract.

To-morrow will go down in history as the first "dry" Sunday ever experienced in British Columbia, for at 11 o'clock to-night the provisions of the liquor act passed at the last session of the legislature, will become effective. All the saloons and hotel bars throughout the province must be closed and no liquor sold from 11 p.m. until 5 of the clock on Monday morning.

Victoria was visited yesterday by a number of police chiefs who have been attending the annual convention at Vancouver this week. They were guests of the city while here.

It has been decided that asphalt shall be used very largely on all the streets of the city, residential and otherwise, in future improvement works.

Good progress is being made on the construction of the fine building at the corner of Broad and Fort Streets which will house The Times this fall. This structure, which is six stories with basement, was commenced on April 28 and is now well on the way to completion and will be ready for occupancy not later than the end of September.

Riel Heroism Commemorated

"Scarlet and Gold" Issues Half-century Rebellion Anniversary Number

Of unusual historical interest, the Riel Rebellion edition of Scarlet and Gold has just been issued and the first copies received here by T. A. K. Turner.

The whole issue of 100 pages is devoted to the struggle on the Canadian plains of just fifty years ago, and the heroism of the Mounted Police and the volunteers who left comfortable homes in the east to face the privations and hardships of a campaign to make the west safe for the white man.

S. Garnham, editorial president of Scarlet and Gold, has gathered and presented many interesting stories of the rebellion days. These stories are written chiefly by the men who took an active part in this great drama of Canada's frontier.

"The old-timers" ranks are being sadly depleted and as reunion time comes around each year the number of absentees is very noticeable," says Mr. Garnham. "We therefore believe that this issue should be treasured as an historical souvenir, equal to any published in the past."

The leading article on the rebellion itself is written by Judge John A. Fern of Vancouver, who went to the war as a youthful member of the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto. Among the other writers in the number are Philip Godeff, F.R.C.S., J. B. Ross, Fred Williams, James T. Fullerton of Port Townsend, Wash.; Neil Brodie of Cereal, Alta.; George Shepherd, West Plains, Sask.; G. E. White, Prof. W. T. Allison and P. Monro St. John.

George Bartley recalls the dramatic scenes in the Regina court during the trial and sentence of Louis Riel.

The whole edition is filled with reproductions of old photographs and cuts, which are now invaluable because of the historic associations.

TWO-LAYERED CITY

BENEATH thriving Damascus, important city of Syria, lies another Damascus that was probably of much greater wealth and renown than the modern centre. From about 1400 to 800 B.C. ancient Damascus grew and prospered. Aramean capital and buffer for the little Hebrew and Phoenician kingdoms against the onslaught of the Assyrians.

The stamp of Syria shown here illustrates the modern Damascus. It is too great and valuable a city to be torn down for the satisfaction of historians, but were this done, relics of a gorgeous era would be uncovered. For the ancient royal city contained a luxurious castle filled with sumptuous furniture, its walls and towers inscribed, perhaps, with legends of a glorious past.

B.C. TO EXTEND CLINIC SERVICE

Province Now Has Three Traveling Officers on T.B. Work

Organization of the provincial government's new anti-tuberculosis programme moved another step forward to-day when Dr. G. F. Kincaid, recently of the Transvaal Sanatorium staff, was appointed traveling tuberculosis clinic officer for the interior of the province, with headquarters at Kamloops.

This appointment, announced by Hon. G. M. Weir, provincial secretary, follows the selection last week of Dr. Frederick Kincaid of Victoria to serve in a similar capacity on Vancouver Island.

Dr. Weir explained that with these appointments, the traveling clinic work of the department has been increased three-fold.

The new appointees will work in conjunction with Dr. A. S. Lamb, who formerly covered the entire province. In the interior, he said, Dr. Kincaid will be equipped with a car and portable X-ray machine and will travel to all centres trying to locate incipient cases of tuberculosis, and carrying on preventive work.

This work is regarded as the most important phase of the anti-T.B. drive. Through the traveling clinics the disease can be traced in the early stages when cure is not so difficult. One of the main difficulties in the past has been that cases are diagnosed in the later stages, often too late for effective treatment.

Early diagnosis, he explained, makes for short and relatively inexpensive hospital treatment. In addition, of course, it assists in reducing the dangers of infection.

Another vital part of the work done by the traveling clinics will be that of public health teaching, the minister said. They will co-operate in this respect with public health nurses and school medical services to protect children. They will also work with the welfare field service of the department as part of the programme to coordinate the health and welfare services of the government.

TRAFFIC

of beer barons, directly or indirectly, by way of cafe and restaurant. It is claimed that the tourist business is passing up Victoria, while our mayor and also the publicity authorities assure us that it has increased amazingly over late years, and anyone driving on the roads or noticing the license plates on the cars can see that for themselves.

Then Quebec is constantly held up as a shining example. Yes, we know Quebec has a long drinking record. From Quebec we read so often of whole families and children being burned up in their homes. We hear of no investigation. Therefore, we are left to surmise and suspect that the parents were away trying to quench their thirst at the free-flowing streams of strong drink. No, we do not want to be like Quebec.

Then we are told a lot about Seattle. Yes, they have license in Seattle. We heard a man say who was attending a convention in Victoria "that the only place in Seattle he could get a meal where the atmosphere was not laden with alcoholic odors was in the Y.M.C.A." No, we do not want to be like Seattle and we don't even want to be like Vancouver, where the mayor, because he stands up for decency and honor must needs have a bodyguard thrown around him to protect him from the "lousy darts of the wicked."

"Keep Victoria different." That is what the tourists most often say. What the tourists most often say is that the better sort, who will spend their money in the drygoods, boot and shoe, antique and grocery stores, and our many excellent confection and delicatessen stores.

There is yet lots of room for improvement in our fair Victoria. Count up the number of double tragedies of the victims of strong drink during the last year? And anyone knows how dangerous it is for airplane pilots and automobile pilots to be under the influence. Why, even a man walking along the street with a jag on is liable to take a nose-dive.

Space will not permit the pages that could be written of the results of the drink habit. Will only say as a parting word, "Where there is drink, there is danger."

CONSOLIDATION IS CONSIDERED

A plan for consolidating the school districts of Matsqui, Mission and Abbotsford into one, and operating them under provincial supervision is being discussed by the government following a proposal of Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education.

School accommodation in two of the centres is said to be overtaxed and by combining the three and existing buildings would meet the combined needs of all.

In view of success meeting the consolidation of school areas in the Peace River the plan for the lower mainland districts has met favor, but as yet no decision has been reached.

CITY POLICE WIN TROPHIES

Victoria police marksmen returned to the city yesterday for the annual Pacific Northwest Pistol and Revolver meet at Fort Lawton with two trophies and several medals won in competition against other Canadian teams.

Constable A. H. Phillips, who won the high aggregate trophy for the last two years at the annual local meet, came back with Canadian individual trophy honors, carrying a cup and medal.

Members of the team defeated the British Columbia Penitentiary squad by sixty points to win the cup for Canadian teams. Members of the team were: Detective Inspector A. McEllan, Const. Phillips, Detective H. Rogers and Policewoman Margaret Walker.

Expenditures of $21 for fire equipment were authorized by the Equine Council at their meeting yesterday evening. The equipment consists of a shut-off nozzle and a reducer.

fruitless employment, and tormented with the apprehension of want in their old age." When we consider how appropriate these sentiments are in view of present conditions, and remember that they were uttered more than four hundred years ago, does it not seem that a new deal, or at least a square deal, for the workers was about due?

C.C.F.

To the Editor:—In view of the recent published announcements of the merger of the C.C.F. and the Socialist Party of Canada, I would be glad if you would publish the following statement:

This so-called Socialist Party just merged with the C.C.F. was formerly the Independent Labor Party of Vancouver, who later added to its name the word "socialist."

The Socialist Party of Canada with headquarters at Winnipeg, adheres strictly to the principles of revolutionary socialism as formulated by Marx and Engels, and insist upon the necessity of the capture of political power for the purpose of instituting socialism by an educated majority who desire that change.

This party has never had any connections with either of the two organizations in the above merger, and I wish to state clearly that while they give lip service to socialism, they are a reform organization pure and simple as their manifesto plainly shows.

Therefore, reforms from whatever source they emanate, are illusions, and of no interest to the working class.

Duncan, Aug. 5.—Major Prevest of Duncan has called a mass meeting of Duncan citizens for Wednesday evening to discuss the question of a "new deal" for Vancouver Island.

Bruce McKelvie, managing editor of The Victoria Colonist, will be the principal speaker.

stranger has come among us and showed us the way to a richer and a more generous civic and community understanding.

The entertainments now being presented at the beautiful Show Boat in Inner Harbor are to me a revelation of the people's desire to get together in friendly intercourse. This movement for the enrichment of our community lives should be encouraged by all of us, and if so encouraged, it cannot fail to convert the people of Victoria to the principles of gracious welcome to the strangers within our gates.

The Tourist Trade Development Association, which is our association, and which is supported by our contributions, is to be congratulated on a definite success of its first step in a much criticized, but undoubtedly practical five year plan.

MR. STEVEN'S CAMPAIGN
To the Editor:—I am enclosing a copy of a letter sent out by the Retail Merchants' Association, dated August 2, appealing to all retail merchants and friends to support H. H. Stevens at his meetings, also announcing his Saturday night meeting.

I expect you have already seen it, Mr. Editor.

I have discussed this letter with a number of others who received copies and they are just as concerned and there are a few things we would like to know. According to the letter, the executives of the trade sections were opposed to the introduction of party politics into the organization, who then authorized the spending of the association's funds to advertise Mr. Stevens and his meetings.

We also wonder how much more of the association's funds will be used for Mr. Stevens' campaign?

When an organization representing the retail merchants, uses its funds to give publicity to a political party, just whom will this party represent if elected? Would it be the profit-seeking retail merchants, of which I am one, or would it be for the good of all?

We are very suspicious of who pays the piper these days. We would like to know what other members of the R. M. Association or trade sections think.

"USEFUL" EMPLOYMENT
To the Editor:—As I stood watching the men engaged in the hard laborious task of excavating the rock for the foundation of the building to be erected on Wharf Street I could not help recalling the words of the venerable Sir Thomas More and thinking how appropriate they are to modern conditions. "Consider," says this old philosopher, "how few of those that work are employed in laborers that are of real service to mankind; for we who measure all things by money give rise to many trades that are both vain and superfluous, and serve only to support idleness and luxury. For if those who work were only employed in such things as the convenience of life demands there would be such an abundance of them that a small proportion of them would suffice for doing all that is necessary, profitable, or pleasant to mankind. . . . But what justice is there in this that a nobleman or a banker, or any other man that either does nothing at all or at best is employed in doing things that are of no use to the public, should live in great luxury or splendor, upon what is so ill acquired; and a carter, a smith, or any other man that works harder even than the nobleman or the banker, and is employed in labor so necessary that no commonwealth could hold out a poor without them, can only earn so poor a livelihood, and must lead so miserable a life, that the condition of the beast is much better than theirs. For as the beasts do not work so conscientiously, so more pleasantly, and have no anxiety about what is to come, whilst these men are depressed by a barren and

Lieut.-Governor Sir Thomas Astley-Cubitt, governor of Bermuda, and Lady Astley-Cubitt, left Banff Springs Hotel yesterday morning, after an enjoyable ten-day stay. They will reach Victoria on Thursday, August 8.

The Misses Margaret and Eileen Bennett entertained on Saturday evening at a cup and saucer shower at the home of Mrs. E. De Witt in honor of Miss Hazel De Witt, a bride-to-be of this month. The gifts were collected in a large bowl decorated in pink and blue. The evening was spent playing house-house, after which a buffet supper was served. Those present were: Mesdames C. Bennett, R. Hunt, E. Bennett, L. Mannix, A. Bennett, J. Bennett, S. Almond, E. The many gifts were presented to the bride-elect on a miniature raft of white and green crepe paper. The room was prettily decorated in yellow and white. The evening was spent in games, the prize winners being Mrs. F. Rushworth and Miss Peggy Noble. Later refreshments were served by Miss Lulu Bond and Mrs. Webster, assisted by Mrs. N. Harris. Rushworth, Mrs. J. Allan, Mrs. A. Webster, Misses Kay Hall, Kay Kennedy, Muriel Allan, Dallas Allan, Peggy Noble and Lulu Bond.

Miss Nancy White, whose marriage is scheduled for September, was the guest of honor when Miss Doris Smith entertained at a personal shower yesterday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Robert Small, 2229 First Street. The room was prettily decorated in a color scheme of green and gold, with gladioli and carnations carrying out the motif. The many charming gifts were presented to the bride-to-be in a novel way, concealed in a golden log forming a raft, the bride's initials adorning the prettiest of the logs. The bride, while on the raft, inscribed "A raft of good wishes to the bride," with an appropriate verse. The supper table was centred with a gaily-decorated parasol sheltering a miniature bride and groom. Contests and games caused much amusement. The winners being the Misses Frances Borde, Elma Keeler, Twiss Ward and Doreen Mills. Among the guests were: Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. Randy, Mrs. J. R. Small, Mrs. Augustine, Misses Nancy White, Elma Keeler, Rita Keeler, Frances Borde, Doreen Mills, Pat. ## AMATEURS ARE BIG SUCCESS

Hundreds Line Causeway to See Local Artists Perform on Showboat

A huge crowd which filled every seat and lined Belleville Street from the C.F.B. docks to Government Street, yesterday evening witnessed the first amateur night staged aboard the showboat in the Inner Harbor. A number of aspiring local artists performed and received prolonged applause for many clever numbers.

Owing to the popularity of several of the turns it was difficult for T. H. Elliot and "Slim" Hunter to judge the classes and it was necessary to appeal to the audience two or three times for applause to determine winners.

The first three winners received cash awards, while boxes of chocolates were given to the others. The winners were: Jack Tregalla, Gladys Wyatt and Kathleen Schofield, Michael Groves and Phyllis Bechiza.

Those taking part were: Herbert Borden, songs; Jessie Pollack, tap dance; Bobby Hanson, boy soprano; Cynthia Parratt, Chinese soft shoe dance; J. C. Chambers, songs; Delphine Ferrier, songs; Holly Rouse, songs; Helen Lawrence, Seattle visitor, tap dance; Marie Hanson, dance; Gladys Wyatt and Kathleen Schofield, dance in costume; Michael Groves, child baritone; Thelma Gates, songs; Frank Lavery, auto harp; Harvey Murphy, violin; Ernie Crookford, magician; Jack Tregalla, monologue; Phyllis Bechiza, acrobatic dance; Mrs. W. Laming, songs, and Mary Lavery, harmonica.

Jerry Schofield was the accompanist. This evening the programme will be given by the band of the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade, under Alfred Prescott. The audience will be taken on a musical tour of the world as the band introduces popular numbers of every country.

IS DAUGHTER OF D'ARCY MCGEE

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 6.—The assassination of her father, Thomas D'Arcy McGee, one of the fathers of Confederation, was recalled here today by Agnes D'Arcy McGee, his daughter, on her seventy-eighth birthday.

Miss McGee resides at the Father Dowd Memorial Home here. Thomas D'Arcy McGee was assassinated by a Fenian April 6, 1868, in Ottawa.

"I was only ten years old at the time," she said, "and was alone with my mother as my sister was at the 'Villa Maria' convent. I remember so clearly the last words my father said to me as he was leaving for Ottawa. I had a toy stuffed dog that I called Fido under my arm."

"My father said: 'Well, God bless you, Peggy. Take good care of Fido and the dolls while I am away.'"

Miss McGee was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., one of five children, three of whom died before the family came to Montreal. Her sister, Mrs. J. Quinn, died in California several years ago.

Family Works As Legacy Is Traced

Abraham Starr Group In New York Awaits Word From South Africa

Canadian Press
New York, Aug. 6.—The inbred frugality and distrust of that which comes easily in life have maintained for the family of Abraham Starr the day four weeks ago when news of a reputed legacy of $1,000,000 left by a forgotten Uncle Jim in South Africa spread like a prairie fire through the tenement district of the lower east side of this city.

Yesterday the grey-haired mother of the flock, which numbers twenty-one, including grandchildren, that occupies an entire tenement house, reported that Nathaniel Rappaport, Montreal lawyer who first informed the Starrs they were heirs to the $1,000,000 fortune of Harry Koslack, a diamond merchant who died six years ago, said they must wait eight months for a thorough check into the matter of the will and original family names. No confirmation of the inheritance has come as yet from lawyers in South Africa.

Meantime, the Starr family has gone about its business of working for a living.

Your Baby and Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

DON'T HEDGE WHEN ANSWERING CHILD'S QUESTIONS ABOUT SEX

The mother should be on the alert to answer a child's first questions about babies before the school age. The chances are remote of a boy arriving at the age of eight without being told something by someone, somewhere, and what he hears outside the home is apt to cause him to hide his knowledge from his parent and to be cagey about asking questions. The child who asks frankly is seldom so informed and his mother should be happy to be the recipient of his questions and should make an effort to justify his confidence.

Mrs. W. S. D. writes: "I have a little boy of eight and am blessed with another baby. Our neighbor boy, somewhat older, has been talking to my little boy and has given him some information from a wrong standpoint. It is hard now for me to correct his ideas. I am hoping you have some leaflets on the subject of sex."

ADMIT THE TRUTH

You may have, for a self addressed and stamped envelope the leaflets called "Sex Habits of Childhood," and "Answering a Child's Questions About Babies." Send your request to Myrtle Meyer Elder in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

I imagine what makes your explanations difficult is that you are disinclined to admit the truth of the older boy's statements. It seems to me that the most helpful attitude a mother can assume is that the truth is not terrible. To admit this is to free herself from some of her own embarrassed, shame emotions.

DON'T APOLOGIZE

Nature is too wonderful, too miraculous to need to be apologized for. If the mother is truly convinced of this in her own mind, she will have no difficulty in admitting the existence of any facts about which the boy wishes to be informed.

It is her attitude of calm acceptance of what is—which will convince the child that she can be counted upon to give him a truthful answer. All of the facts of life cannot be made clear to an eight year old—no matter how conscientious the parent. No one would attempt to elucidate mathematics or the wonders of astronomy in a few short talks.

THEY KNOW HEDGING

A mother should answer what the child asks at the moment. She should be prepared for a fluctuating interest, the child being insatiable in its demands at one moment, then for a time showing no interest, then exhibiting another rising flood of inquisitiveness.

But any child knows when its parent is hedging and when this happens the really curious child can always find sources of information right at hand to satisfy any mild or wild thirst for information. Every mother who wishes to keep her child's viewpoint healthy must meet the competition of every child in her own child's environment. The subject is too ever present to be overlooked or ignored.

MUSIC WILL RIVAL SPORTS

Jascha Heifetz Is Bigger Drawing Card Than Football in U.S. Stadium

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 6.—Jascha Heifetz, internationally famous violinist, predicted last night that "within a few years classical music will draw more people to the stadiums of America than football."

He made this statement at Leviathan Stadium where, on bright autumn Saturday afternoons, Benny Friedman's city college football squad plays before meagre crowds.

In contrast, 8,000 extra chairs had to be lined along the gridiron to accommodate the crowd which came clamoring to the gates of the stadium to hear Heifetz play the Tchaikovsky concerto and Chausson's "Poeme" with the New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra.

While polygamy was practiced by some Mormon pioneers after 1847, it was abolished by the first presidency of the Latter Day Saints in 1850.

HOW TO "BE PREPARED" — THERE IS MORE ENERGY AND BETTER BALANCED NOURISHMENT IN FOUR HEAPING TEASPOONS OF GRAPE-NUTS WITH MILK THAN THERE IS IN A SERVING OF LIVER AND BACON.

And that's not half the story. For Grape-Nuts is one of the most delicious of foods, too—delicately nut-like in taste. Crisp so that it tempts healthful chewing. Specially prepared for easy digestion. Economical because it costs only about one cent per serving. . . . Get a package from your grocer today.

CURIOUS ANNOY JOHN BARRYMORE

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 6.—John Barrymore called the police because of overwhelming curiosity in a boudoir shopping trip on which Elaine Barrie, his pretty young protegee, accompanied him.

But police would not chase lookers-on, and Barrymore came off with ruffled temper and a split fingernail the latter received when he went personally to the chase.

Barrymore, Miss Barrie and Miss Barrie's mother, after a tour of Fifth Avenue bedroom suites, finally settled upon and bought a "directoire" set under the sheltering arm of the law. The actor refused to discuss the divorce suit brought in California by his wife, Dolores Costello Barrymore. He was equally insistent upon silence concerning any romance with Miss Barrie.

POLYGAMY IN ARIZONA AREA

Prosecute Members of Ex-mormon Brotherhood Who Are on Relief

Associated Press
Kingman, Ariz., Aug. 6.—A change in legal tactics in the prosecution of a community of alleged polygamists in isolated northern Arizona was disclosed today by District Attorney Elmo Bollinger of Mohave County.

Bollinger filed criminal charges of "open adultery" last Saturday against eight residents of the Short Creek district, but now intends to prosecute the four men and four women involved under a law banning "open and notorious cohabitation."

"We cannot use the adultery charges," he explained, "because we have no complaining witnesses. Prosecution under the bigamy law would be too expensive, inasmuch as the marriages were likely performed elsewhere."

Bollinger said his attention was directed to the Short Creek area when relief agents declared some of the women described themselves as plural wives of men in the district.

Families on relief

Bollinger said most of the families have from nine to fifteen children and are on relief at least part of the time. The prosecutor added the people described themselves as "Brethren of the United Order," and polygamy was a part of their religious beliefs, resulting in their excommunication by the Latter Day Saints Church.

While polygamy was practiced by some Mormon pioneers after 1847, it was abolished by the first presidency of the Latter Day Saints in 1850.

SEASON OPENS AT SARATOGA

Glittering Pageantry As Glamorous Families Regather at Race Town

Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Aug. 6.—The glamorous families have gathered here anew in the richly romantic, flower-decked setting of America's most historic racetrack.

There are Vanderbilts, Whitneys, Sloans, Dukes and other headline names from the society columns. They come, rain or no, from their luxurious houses on Union Avenue. They sit, as their fathers and their fathers' fathers have sat, in their boxes in the clubhouse. They casually bet on their own horses and on others' horses, too, and they rub shoulders with Smiths and Joneses in the paddock between races and showers.

Another season is under way. The town itself is "flying high." Gambling houses do not bother to close the shutters. You hear the clicking of dice, the rolling of bird cages and the spinning of roulette wheels as you walk along the streets.

GETTING MEAL IS A JOB

It takes hours to get a simple meal in any restaurant. Taxi drivers have before-1929 expressions on their faces. Men in derbies and checkered suits lean over dope sheets in bars and lobbies. The old spots are filled with pre-depression day crowds. Big hotels, across the narrow park from the Casino, made famous early in the century by Dick Cantfield, the greatest gambler of them all, are overflowing. But no lights shine from the windows of the Casino. Only a few couples, arm in arm, stroll along the narrow paths that run around it. The place that John Morrissey, prizefighter, horse breeder and Congressman, built in 1864 and which Cantfield took over and gilded and glorified in 1901, is a museum now. The only public it knows is one interested in natural history. The only crowds that pass through its doors are those that meet for religious or educational conventions.

RAIN ENHANCES TRACK'S BEAUTY

The rains have made the course, one of the oldest in the country, look even lovelier than usual. The grass seems to cast a green glow into the air above it. The banks of flowers are fresh and crisp. On the giant maples glitter and gleam whenever the sun appears.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney, in a linen suit of purple and fuchsia—her own racing stable colors—is an attractive sight. Her horses did not bring home any laurels on the opening day, but their attractive, brown-haired, dark-eyed owner was having a good time just the same.

Dodge Sloan, owner of the Brookmeade stables, in a blue and white printed dress and a blue straw hat, stands and cheers during each race.

Mrs. Deering Howe is flushed with victory—her "Only One" won the American Legion Handicap.

Young A. Biddle Duke—heir to untold tobacco millions—strides into view smiling in the company of Frisella St. George, comely in brown-trimmed pink linen. They've been much seen together this summer, so—l . . . Gloria Baker, lovely in furs . . . Miss Justine Cutting, swank in checks . . . Mrs. Caroline Bassett, simplicity in white . . . A spectacular scene for the fashion minded, this Saratoga, even though frowning skies have persuaded most of the socialites to wear their second best finery.

When the races are over, the paddock is a madhouse. People run to their cars. Thousands of motors hum in unison. Rich and poor alike talk excitedly about the last race and plans for the night. Apparently, as is usual in Saratoga, no one expects to go to bed before dawn. There is much to see and a good deal of fun to be had between now and to-morrow afternoon at three.

ALL-YEAR-ROUND RESORT NEW

This no longer will be a thirty-day-a-year town. From now on, the new Saratoga Spa will make this place, which is identified in the history books as the spot where Burgoyne surrendered to Gates, as important during the other eleven months as it has been every August for the past half a century.

The townsfolk of Saratoga, mecca of turf enthusiasts, are as proud of the health centre with its beautiful brick buildings (Georgian in theme, with limestone porticos and black slate roofs) as they are of the racetrack.

Having cost about $10,000,000 to construct, the seven buildings and the beautiful park reservation surrounding them represent a spa equal to those in Europe for persons with ailments that can be cured by mineral waters and baths.

There are two enormous bath houses, a Hall of Springs where the natural, healthful waters bubble out of handsome marble fountains, a testing laboratory and bottling plant, a large hotel, a golf house and a locker house. These are surrounded by the natural park, a golf course, especially constructed for those who must take their exercise in not too strenuous fashion, tennis courts and dozens of bridle paths. The swimming pool is a vision of architectural perfection and beauty. QUARTER TICKETS, drawn by muscular-looking college boys, travel up and down the narrow paths. No automobiles will be allowed close to the buildings. Patients must travel in the style of the Orient.

SPEAK FRIDAY

Noted Philosopher Will Examine Advance of Civilization and Science

Again in the forefront of public notice through widespread acclaim of his latest book "The Story of Civilization," which was published in New York less than three weeks ago, Dr. Will Durant, famous philosopher, author and lecturer, will be a visitor in Victoria with members of his family and friends on Friday next, August 9.

While his present trip to the Pacific Coast is primarily a vacation, Dr. Durant is giving lectures in a few larger cities and will speak here in the Empire Theatre on Friday night.

Will Durant is no stranger to Victoria, his provoking lecture on "What I Saw in Russia," having attracted unusual attention when he spoke in the City Temple two years ago, just after his return from the land of the Soviets.

On this occasion Dr. Durant will give a lecture which is his own favorite and which has been acclaimed in London as well as in New York and throughout this continent.

The title is "Is Progress Real?" and it is a characteristic Durant examination, in his own popular philosophic fashion, of the real or perhaps only fancied benefits that accrue to the human race and to the individual from what is generally called the "advance of civilization and science."

Many of the ideas propounded in the lecture are those treated at greater length in his new book.

Dr. Durant is remembered in Victoria as a magnetic speaker with a free and earnest style all his own. His forte is the answering of questions from the audience at the close of his talk.

Seats for Friday night's lecture are being reserved at Fletcher's.

$200,000 Gate For Louis-Levinsky Bout To-morrow Night

Fighters Rest After Weeks of Stiff Training

SALINAS IN RECORD RUN

Sets Track Mark to Capture Handicap at Lansdowne Park; Nice Prices

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—Salinas, prairie sprinter, starting in a handicap for the first time since coming to the Coast, pounded over the six-furlong route in 1:12 flat to nose out a classy field in the Quigley Handicap and set a new track record at Lansdowne Park yesterday.

The Pearson entry forced the pace throughout and stood a sustained drive at the wire to nose out the heavily-weighted Bonny Grafton and High Tension in a three-head finish. The time was one-fifth of a second better than the previous mark.

Orangery, E. W. Hamber entry, was unable to maintain the pace and finished fourth.

Salinas paid $20.80, $5.85 and $3.40. Overlooked in the betting, Queen Avondale romped home first in the seventh race on the card to pay off at the rate of $98.25 for a win ticket, best price of the day.

Levinsky Reported to Be in Best Condition in Years; Louis Is Favorite

NEGRO WILL GET $60,000 SLICE

Chicago, Aug. 6.—A gate that may reach $200,000 was in prospect to-day for the heavyweight fight at Comiskey Park to-morrow night, between Joe Louis, Detroit's knockout sensation, and King Levinsky, the glorified ex-fish peddler. Louis is 3 to 1 favorite in the betting.

When the box office traffic was opened to-day, Promoter Joe Foley announced $110,000 was already in the strong box. He predicted another $100,000 would come rolling in before the walloping Chicagoan and the Detroit negro started throwing punches at each other's chin.

If Promoter Foley is right in his predictions, Louis, just twenty-one years old, and yet to have his first shave, will earn $60,000 with his fists to-morrow night.

Up at his Round Lake, Ill., training camp yesterday, Levinsky indulged in one last training move, a private workout with even newspaper correspondents refused admittance.

Around the bend in Lake Michigan, at the summer home of Julian Black, one of Louis's managers, near St. Joseph, Mich., the brown bomber planned to do nothing more than catch up on his sleep he lost during the blistering hot nights of the training camp.

Levinsky, who has trained so faithfully that he has reduced to 198 pounds, lightest he has been in five years, engaged in his secret training session so his handlers could check up on his condition and perhaps throw a couple of tough sparring partners into the ring with him for a real battle of a couple of rounds instead of the routine training sparring.

Louis left no doubt as to his condition during the last two days of his warm-up work with the gloves. He worked for speed and to keep his brilliant timing. He punched terrifically in the moments he chose to cut loose. He weighed 194 pounds. There will be no broadcast of the fight.

STEW VICKERS IS CHAMPION

Defeats Vic Ripley for Alberta Golf Crown; Also Holds Open

Calgary, Aug. 6.—Stew Vickers, twenty-two-year-old Calgary golfer, yesterday won the Alberta amateur championship, his third triumph in four years, defeating Vic Ripley, also of Calgary, 5 and 4, in the thirty-six-hole final over the Calgary Country Club layout.

Vickers won the title in 1932 and 1933, and last Thursday won the provincial open crown.

Vickers, who reached the semi-finals of the Canadian amateur this year, took the first hole with a birdie four and was never headed. He increased his margin to six up at the twenty-fourth and ended the match on the thirty-second with a birdie three after the St. Louis Eagles hockey star missed a long downhill putt.

On the holes played Vickers was only four over par. He carded a 74 on his morning round and was even par for the fourteen holes in the afternoon. Ripley took a 78 in the morning and was four over par on his second round when the match ended.

North Vancouver, Aug. 6.—North Vancouver eleven defeated Seattle cricketers by 134 runs in the opening match of the North Shore cricket week here yesterday.

Aided by Smyth, who scored 177 runs, the North Shore eleven completed 280 runs; Seattle batsmen were dismissed for 146.

Nicholson with 30, Barwick with 30, and Royston with 20 were the chief run-getters for the visitors.

To be played at Lethbridge, the games may be played August 12 and 14, depending on progress made with the play-offs in the east.

Richmond Wins Over Royal City Squad

New Westminster, Aug. 6.—The fast-stepping Richmond squad drew further into the lead of the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League here yesterday evening when they downed the lowly New Westminster Salmonbellies, 20 to 15.

For the first two quarters the cellular occupants kept close on the heels of the league leaders and the half ended with Richmond leading 9 to 8.

In the second half, however, the Lulu Island team went to work to draw away from the fighting Royal City crew.

Would Boycott Olympic Games

Protestant and Catholic Church Publications Call For Action As Result of German Persecution of Jews; Suggest Moving Sports to Another Country

New York, Aug. 6.—On the heels of the latest demands by Jewish organizations that the United States withdraw its support from the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin, two church publications—one Protestant and the other Catholic—yesterday called editorially for equally drastic action.

The Commonwealth, a Catholic weekly, in effect urged a boycott of the Olympics by all Catholics. The Christian Century, a Protestant magazine, declared fair play could not be expected in Germany and recommended the transfer of the international athletic meet to some other country.

It is the policy of the international Olympic committee to allow at least three years for a city to prepare for the games. Germany's athletic plant is now nearly completed for the 1936 meet. Invitations to the games in Berlin already have been accepted by forty-eight nations, eight more than participated in the Los Angeles Olympics in 1932.

Charge Persecution

"In the interest of justice and fairness," concludes The Commonwealth, "we suggest that no Catholic and no friend of the sport activities of Catholic institutions ought to make the trip to Berlin. We request each and every organization identified with the church to make it clear to its members that participation in the approaching games means endorsement of willful and violent persecution."

President Avery Brundage and other members of the United States Olympic committee, while fully cognizant of the growth of feeling against Germany on religious and racial grounds, have taken the attitude that there is time to reconsider the country's Olympic attitude if and when it is proved German pledges have been violated with respect to treatment of either Jewish or Catholic athletes.

Invitations Accepted

The Christian Century's suggestion that the Olympics be shifted from Berlin to some other world capital echoes a similar idea put forward in other quarters. The idea was not taken seriously by Olympic leaders here. Recently Daniel J. Morris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, said: "If the games are not held in Berlin, they probably will not be held at all."

Giants-Yankees Both Make Gains

Former Strengthened Hold on National Baseball League Lead by Trimming Brooklyn 5 to 4; Chicago Cubs Lose to Cincinnati; Yanks Wallop Boston.

The "big train" has found that his fast one is of little avail when he is sitting on the bench and that the darling of the fans to-day may be the butt of their jibes to-morrow.

Walter Johnson, one of the greatest pitchers who ever poised his toe on a rubber, has doffed the managerial garb to go back to the cows and the chickens on his Maryland farm.

For more than twenty years Johnson baffled batters with a ball that came down the alley like a bullet. The American League bestowed on him its highest award, the distinguished cross of baseball, a Maltese cross studded with twenty diamonds; and then he became a manager.

CHEERS TO JEERS

After a long siege of illness he took over the reins of Newark Bears in the International League. In 1928 he went back to pilot Washington Senators, the team with which he had spent his big league tenure. In 1932 he was ousted from that position and took the helm at Cleveland. With the years the cheers turn to jeers.

There are some, however, who feel that Johnson will tire of the new-mown hay. He always will have a hankering for the smack of hickory on horsehide. And so it would not be surprising if he went into the minors where the raspberries don't quite reach the crescendo of the majors.

Cleveland Indians got off to a good start under new Manager Steve O'Neill yesterday, playing heads up baseball to defeat Chicago White Sox 4 to 2. The New York Yankees walloped the Boston Red Sox 10 to 2 and Washington turned back the Philadelphia Athletics 10 to 7 in other American League games yesterday, while in the National League the New York Giants beat Brooklyn 4 to 5; Philadelphia beat the Boston Braves 9 to 1 and Cincinnati beat the Chicago Cubs 3 to 1.

There are no Okanagan apricots on wholesale row this week. Wholesalers expect the first shipment to arrive early next week.

Daily shipments of blueberries are coming in from Vancouver.

The crop of local table cherries comes to an end with the last shipment arriving in the city's distributing centre this morning. Further supplies of sweet cherries will be obtained from the Kootenays.

The first shipments of seedless grapes are arriving, and the quality is said to be improving daily.

IS LAID TO REST

Funeral services were held this morning over the remains of John William Edward Pearson, who passed away Sunday at his home, 1899 Foul Bay Road, Rev. Canon H. W. G. Stocken officiated, and the hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Abide With Me." The casket was covered with beautiful flowers. Interment was in Colwood Burial Park. Acting as pallbearers were: R. Hallam, E. Merritt, E. Leggett, A. J. Moore, W. A. Bayliss and H. Hennessy.

Frank Merryfield, "Cornish Wizard," has returned from the Cornish convention held in Port Angeles. He entertained the Moose on Friday night, assisted by his daughter, Frances, talented young toe dancer. Three return engagements have been accepted by the Cornish Wizard in Port Angeles. While paying a visit to the Port Angeles Evening News he met an old acquaintance, Jack Benson. Both were on the Douglas City baseball nine in Alaska in 1903, when they helped to win the championship by taking twenty-three out of twenty-four games.

Federal Control In Education Advocated

Canadian Teachers' Federation Told By Its President Remoulding of System Is Needed

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Need of federal control in education, reorganization of methods of administration, abolition of low wages for teachers and revision of the education tax system were questions which the public must face if the present generation of Canadian youth is to receive a square deal, J. B. Mackay of Saskatoon told the annual convention of the Canadian Teachers' Federation here to-day.

With delegates from all the provinces in attendance, the fourteenth conference got under way here, related to deliberate on problems relating to pedagogy until Friday.

The delegates were welcomed by Prime Minister B. B. Bennett.

Lack of provincial and federal control, duplication, and decentralization characterized education in Canada under municipal and part provincial administration, Mr. Mackay told his conferees. This was a stiff barrier against national unity.

SMALL UNITS

Condemning the small local school as an institution which had become the subject of petty economy and the satisfaction of personal prejudice, the president declared the small administrative unit must go.

Hotel Lobby Gossip

Three directors of the Scottish Wholesale Co-operative Society, D. C. Thompson, William Hewitt and J. McCormack, of Glasgow, are visitors to Victoria to-day.

"We are on a business trip to Canada, but we have nothing to say," said Mr. Thompson, acting as spokesman for the party, at the Empress Hotel.

Dr. F. Procter, an authority on trachoma, is also at the Empress Hotel to-day, accompanied by his wife, on a holiday visit from Santa Fe. He has made a study of the eye disease prevalent among the natives in various countries of the world.

Capt. George O'Connor, head of the downtown section of Chicago's city police, with Mrs. O'Connor and their granddaughter, is another interesting visitor in the city to-day.

Capt. O'Connor could doubtless tell some vivid stories of racketeering, but he was not saying anything when reporters were around to-day.

"I'm on a vacation," he pleaded as he prepared to leave for Vancouver.

Mrs. A. D. Robb, wife of the vice-president of the Niagara Gorge Railway, is holidaying here from Brooklyn, N.Y.

G. Schmidt Pizarro, honorary member of the Institute of Journalists, Paris and foreign correspondent for a number of Latin-American newspapers, is a visitor at the Empress Hotel to-day.

Mrs. J. Forrester Dies On Mainland

New Diversion At Goldstream

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has received a request for a stock of folders and maps from the Montana Hotel Association at Great Falls, to be distributed to twenty-five of the leading hotels in that state.

This means that tourists heading west through Montana will be able to obtain folders and maps of Victoria in any of the following cities: Great Falls, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Bozeman, Livingston, Billings, Kalispell, Plains, Miles City, Glendive, Havre, Glasgow and Wolf Point.

Mile of Road to Be Rerouted Past Langford Lake on Highway

Work on a new diversion of the Island Highway from Langford to Goldstream has been started by the Department of Public Works, Hon. F. M. MacPherson, the minister, stated to-day.

This diversion, said the minister, would eliminate a number of bad curves in the route and, when finished, would mean the completion of a first-class highway from Victoria to the foot of the Malahat.

About one mile of road will be abandoned and rerouted under the diversion plan. Starting just west of Langford Lake turns will be eliminated and at the Goldstream cutoff the new road will take a route slightly west of the present highway. Cuts will be made to carry it straight through to the first bridge in Goldstream Valley. This bridge will be re-located.

The sum of $30,000 has been allocated for the work.

PREPAYMENTS CONTINUE UP

Total Up to Closing Time Yesterday Set at $631,773 Since January 2

When the city collector's office closed yesterday evening a total of $631,773 had been paid in through the prepayment accounts on 1935 taxes.

The figure was approximately $70,000 below the total collected last year up to the actual date when taxes fall due in October.

By comparison the current collections show an increase of $70,334 over the total paid for the corresponding period last year, and are $35,755 above those of the 1933 period, when previous records were established.

With just under two more months in which to collect the difference between the amount already under the prepayment medium, the city was virtually assured of passing that amount. Indications pointed to a grand total considerably in excess of the previous record in 1935.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF EAGLES HELD

The annual picnic of the Victoria Aerob. No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held on Sunday at Beaver Lake, was attended by approximately 300 Eagles and their families.

James Dupen, the oldest member of the lodge, was another guest. The honor of having the largest family on the grounds went to J. Green and second place went to George Lapp.

A fine sports programme was carried out with Charles Jasper and F. Cawsey in charge of arrangements. Dr. Hugh Clarke was master of ceremonies.

FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Rev. S. Ryall officiated at the funeral of the late Edward Villiers Chaplin yesterday afternoon in St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, at which many sympathizing friends were present. Walton, Geoffrey H. Walton Jr., Terence O'D. Walton, H. E. Pattinson, P. R. Leighton and H. H. Hinton. The remains were laid at rest in St. Luke's Churchyard.

About one mile of road will be abandoned and rerouted under the diversion plan. Starting just west of Langford Lake turns will be eliminated and at the Goldstream cutoff the new road will take a route slightly west of the present highway. Cuts will be made to carry it straight through to the first bridge in Goldstream Valley. This bridge will be re-located.

The sum of $30,000 has been allocated for the work.

PROF. RANKINE NOTED VISITOR

Transmission of Speech by Light Among Scientific Works

Prof. Alexander O. Rankine, O.B.E., F.R.S., professor of physics in the Imperial College of Science and Technology, South Kensington since 1919, and president of section A, British Association and the Physical Society since 1932, is a visitor to Victoria to-day from London, England.

Prof. Rankine is a prolific contributor to scientific journals, his writings being notably on the dimensions of gaseous molecules, the transmission of speech by light, and applied geophysics.

The fifty-four-year-old scientist has had a remarkable career. Educated at the Royal Grammar School at Guildford and University College, London, he acted as assistant in the department of physics in University College for a number of years, and was chief research assistant at the admiralty experimental station at Harwich up to 1916.

Prof. Rankine became honorary secretary of the Physical Society in 1923. In 1925 he was made director of the department of technical optics, Imperial College, and the same year became honorary secretary of the Institute of Physics.

He became president of the Optical Society in 1931 and in 1934 was made a Fellow of the Royal Society.

Prof. and Mrs. Rankine are at the Empress Hotel while in the city.

VISION NEED OF KIWANIS

George McCuish, District Governor, Brings Message to Local Club

"If we are to make the most of our possibilities, we must have a vision of what our possibilities are," said George McCuish of Vancouver, governor of the Pacific Northwest district of Kiwanis International, in bringing a message to the local club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

"Last night we were talking of that terrible tragedy at Alta Lake, where four lives were snuffed out," he continued, "and this brought to mind the early days of flying—how the Wright brothers were told they were crazy, that it was impossible to make a heavier than air machine fly. But they had a vision and they succeeded."

In the same way all great men had visions before they accomplished anything, he said.

We think of the Salvation Army girl who spends her life among the drunks in the slum districts. A woman with a vision. Her eyes are blind to the realities of life for her head is in the clouds.

In the poorest parts of our cities we have mothers who do not think of their children as workers or laborers, but as presidents, as premiers, as great men. How often do their dreams come true?

"Our galleries are full of the masterpieces of men who have had dreams in garrets. I wonder if they worked and starved in vain," Mr. McCuish asked.

But poets and artists were not the only men who had dreams. They themselves had dreams, he said. Visions of a better civilization, of a better human relationship.

"Your club and my club cannot see the needs of others, we are only a knife and fork club," he declared.

More and more the slogan of Kiwanis should be "use me or reject me." The Kiwanis clubs stood for the human and spiritual in life rather than the material.

Each club should become an open forum for every kind of opinion. Mr. McCuish said of the club he addressed, had passed a resolution to allow speakers from the four major political parties to address them.

Mr. McCuish spoke on the work of the Kiwanis, the thousands of civic projects they had put through, the leadership they had given to community life. In particular he stressed the service to underprivileged children.

In closing he told them of the two seas in Palestine. One of them drew its waters from the hills and was full of fish. It had green grass and trees about it, and the children loved to play there. The other drew its water from the sea, but was barren of all life.

"One of these seas is called Dead. Which is your club like?" he said.

R. W. McKennie was in the chair. The attention of the members was drawn to the Kiwanis International Convention, which is to take place in Vancouver on August 18 to 21.

WOULD EASE TAX BURDEN

Mayor Leeming Makes Proposal to Municipal Conference in Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—Suggestion of Mayor David Leeming of Victoria that the tax load on property be lifted to the extent of removing all social services, which would be financed by some general system, was under consideration to-day of a conference of mayors, Reeves, aldermen and councillors of certain municipalities and representatives of business organizations.

A committee of Mayor Leeming, Mayor G. O. McGeer of Vancouver, Mayor Fred Hume of New Westminster, A. D. Paterson of Delta, J. Forman of Victoria and Ald. G. G. Miller, Col. G. H. Dorrell, E. Percy McDermid and D. Donaghy, all of Vancouver, was appointed to formulate a resolution for submission to the conference.

"As long as we maintain our present taxation methods, we destroy the capital value of property," Mayor Leeming declared. "Vancouver, Victoria and the Union of British Columbia Municipalities have time after time placed their hands before the government without result."

"Every move the government makes seems to add to the burdens of the municipalities. Restoration of capital value to property will restore property, which will not return until we get down to an equitable taxation system."

NO RELIEF

Mayor McGeer stated the provincial government had stated it could do nothing for municipal relief this year. The government, he said, was carrying national government loans it did not intend to repay.

He declared it was necessary that all governments co-operate and the object of to-day's conference was to organize to approach the provincial government for its aid in obtaining national relief.

Taxes in Vancouver must be reduced 50 per cent to be equitable, he said. Mayor Leeming contended his proposal would reduce land taxes to 20 mills, which would be more equitable on property—the general public to pay what is necessary to support social services.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX:—If you had proof positive that a woman with whom your husband works was manifesting more personal interest in the man than a professional interest in her job, would you feel justified in using the power you possess in having her transferred from this particular job to one in which she would not come into such close contact with your husband? I don't think the case, so far as he is concerned, is very serious yet, but he enjoys having his ego smoothed by all the flatteries and attentions that this woman lavishes upon him.

And have you any recipe whereby a wife's faith in her husband may be restored?
H. B. S.

Answer: I am afraid there is no nostrum that will ever bring a wife's faith in her husband back to normal after it has once suffered an attack of the fitters. It will always thereafter be a little subject to agues and sinking spells. But I can recommend to you a good heart tonic that will pull you through if you use it as needed.

Use your sense of humor. Keep it working overtime. Try to see your husband as a figure of fun instead of a Don Juan. Realize that he likes to be flattered and soft-soaped and that it makes him feel young again to think he is attractive to women, and that is about all that ails him. To start with, anyhow. And you seem to have diagnosed his case before it got serious.

So your move is to laugh at him. Tease him about his crush and about how easily he has fallen for the near-stren. Don't make scenes about it. When a wife does that it sends her husband back to the "other woman" to be sympathized with and comforted, and that is fatal.

I think you are exactly right in having the woman whom you suspect of having designs upon your husband transferred before she gets in any more of her work. Lots of men can stand anything but temptation. So the wise thing is to remove it out of their way. Especially when it is about half the age and weight of the wife.

It is always a matter of astonishment to me that wives are so careless in the way they leave their husbands around for any light-fingered lady to steal who happens to take a fancy to them, or who thinks they will be good pickings. A woman keeps her diamonds under lock and key and her eye on her handbag; if it has more than carfare in it, but she will do nothing to protect her husband from the wiles of the women who are specialists in home-wrecking, and the gold-diggers who work married men.

Not many men start out deliberately to be unfaithful to their wives. They really love the Old Girls. They don't want their homes broken up. They don't want to be parted from their children. They don't want to pay alimony. They don't want to be mixed up in all the mess and scandal of a divorce. But they are human and men, and when some woman begins yes-yeing them instead of no-noing them, as their wives only too often do, and telling them how young and handsome and fascinating they are, as their wives seldom do, they simply eat it up and ask for more, and before they know it the chess has pried them loose from their hearth stones, while the wife has been asleep at the switch.

It is too late to lock the stable door after the horse is stolen, but many a time old Dobbin could have been kept safe in his stall and the robber foiled if the wife had kept the door shut. Of course, wherever a man goes he is bound to be in contact with attractive women, and a philanderer is going to philander no matter how much he is watched, but all the same there is no use in throwing temptation in a husband's way, or hiring Miss America for a parlor maid.
DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have given my heart to a man who still has four years of college before he will finish his chosen profession. I believed him to be sincere and true, but when he confessed that he had loved eight other girls before me I began to lose faith in him. Do you think that after he graduates he will still be true to me?
PACY.

Answer: Possibly, but it is a hundred-to-one-shot you are taking on a wedding ring if you are depending on him to supply it. Four years is a long test of any man's faithfulness, especially when he goes off to college. For in that time he is thrown in a new environment, with new people, new interests, new aspirations, new thoughts, and he comes out a changed man. And it is just luck if he is still in love with the girl he fancied four years earlier.

Besides, any youth who has had eight previous sweethearts shows that he is fickle and that he has too much facility in loving. He is a born philanderer and it is not likely that he will ever be faithful to any woman.

Uncle Wiggily Finds the Hat

By HOWARD E. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was pulling up his fishing pole and line out of the water. He felt sure he had caught a fish in the tea strainer he was using in place of a hook, for he didn't want to hurt the mouth of any fish on a sharp hook.

"Hurrah!" said the rabbit gentleman to himself as he felt something heavy on the line. The strainer came pearly and nearer to the top of the water. Uncle Wiggily saw a flash of something red.

"I've caught a goldfish!" he joyfully cried. "Just what I wanted! A goldfish that I can put in a glass bowl and watch him swim around and around. It will be company for me in the evening! Hurrah!"

Higher and higher out of the water he lifted his line. The flash of red was brighter now.

"T'WAS NURSE JANE'S HAT

"Oh, I must be very careful," said the rabbit gentleman to himself, "that my red goldfish doesn't flop out of the strainer when I get him up out of the water. If he flops back into the lake I may never catch him again. I must be careful. I think I'll give a big pull all of a sudden and land the fish on shore behind me."

So just as some of you do when you catch a fish for the first time, Uncle Wiggily suddenly jumped his pole this way and that, and the red thing popped the tea strainer and the red thing that was in it. Back over the rabbit gentleman's head it flew and landed with a flop in the grass.

"I've caught it! I've caught my goldfish!" said Uncle Wiggily, and he joyfully shouted. "Hurrah!" He hopped back where the tea strainer had landed and instead of seeing a goldfish flopping on the grass Mr. Longears saw Nurse Jane's new hat with the red roses on it. He had caught the muskrat lady's hat in the tea strainer.

"The red roses fooled me," said Uncle Wiggily as he picked up the hat and shook from it the water. "I thought surely I had a red goldfish. But it's only Nurse Jane's hat with red roses on it. I guess she'll be glad I found it for her. It must have blown from her bureau out of the open window and into the lake. There it sunk and I fished it up. I hope the water hasn't spoiled it."

"Do you mind coming home with me and being my pet?" asked the bunny of the goldfish.

"Not at all," was the answer. "But you must take me home in water. I can't live very long out of water. Have you a pail or a can to fill with water to carry me in?"

"No, but I have Nurse Jane's rubber hat. So he filled Nurse Jane's hat with water, put the goldfish in it and hopped home with his new pet.

"Oh, my goodness!" squeaked Nurse Jane when she saw Uncle Wiggily with her hat and the goldfish. "What a funny adventure! And if the milk bottle will hang a bit of bread on the hat I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's sand city."

Alberta Imports No Harvest Help

All Work Can Be Handled By Men in Province, Say Officials

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Aug. 6.—All available harvesting work can be handled by men already in Alberta, without the necessity of using "imports," it was reported in official sources today after a census of men now in camps under the jurisdiction of the National Defence Department and the Alberta relief commission had revealed approximately 2,000 available for work.

Of that total approximately 1,600 are in the Dominion camps, with the remainder in the relief commission camps, and by adding other men available in the province for work at a moment's notice, no outside help will be required, it was stated.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1935

Primarily stars rule stronger to-day, according to astrology. It is a time to push all important matters with consideration for future world conditions.

Saturn is in a place promising the demands of workers who need to move in profits and to their industry. There is a sign that seems to predict co-operation with employers and arbitration of differences.

Those who read the stars foretell serious peril to business in the autumn and they warn of violence must be avoided in every way possible.

Blister political and economic hostilities are prognosticated and astrologers, who foresee events at a distance of years, warn against hasty acts and selfish aims.

This is a fortunate day for women, who are in the midst of a new era of progress and change. It encourages improvements in buildings and expansion in certain industries.

Women under this rule of the stars will benefit from the success of the men in their families. This is a day favorable to whatever appeals to the self-esteem of husbands and sons.

The stars appear to preface continued domination of women's affairs, which, despite the ambitions of women and those of the gentler sex who are wise to foster the success of their men folk.

Interesting news regarding the Jews is forecast. Palestine will again contribute to world progress. Moscow and Turkey will be much in the foreground during the autumn.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the anxiety of a year if good fortune. Money will come in and there will be aid from relatives for many who have been struggling.

Children born on this day probably will be of determined nature but able to succeed through diplomacy. Many subjects of this sign are artistic and endowed with creative talent.

Joseph Rodman Drake, poet, was born August 7, 1792. Others who were born on this day are: William Morris, poet, 1834; and Percival Clayton, one-time ambassador to Mexico, 1882.

STRATOSPHERE PLANE CRASHES

Associated Press
Paris, Aug. 6.—France's first stratosphere airplane was wrecked in a test flight today, killing its pilot, Marcel Cagnat, twenty-eight.

The plane, which had been three years in construction, was undergoing a final test when it crashed near Bonnières.

A few spectators saw the plane gyrating wildly as without a pilot, then plunge to the earth. This gave rise to the theory the pilot fainting in the rarified upper air.

H.F. SAILING FULL TO-NIGHT

Ss. Aleutian Will Connect
With California-bound Pacific Steamship Liner

An uneventful passage was reported by officers of Ss. President Grant, of the American Mail Line, when she docked at Rithet's Piers at 4 o'clock this morning from China, and Japan ports.

After landing six passengers here, the liner, under the command of Capt. H. B. Clark, U.S.N.R., proceeded to Seattle at 5:30 o'clock. No freight was landed, although the Grant carried 200 tons destined for Victoria.

The ship encountered fair weather all the way on her long passage, except for the usual summer fog off the entrance to the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

LANDED HERE

Passengers who landed in Victoria were Mrs. Yip Seng and Miss Yip Lorna, wife and daughter of the Chinese consul in Vancouver, and M. and Mme. P. A. J. Bonnet and their children, Mlle. S. and Roger. M. and Mme. Bonnet and their family are returning home to France by way of Montreal. They proceeded to Vancouver to-day.

Others on board the President Grant included thirty-five members of the Confucius Cruise, returning to McMillanville, Ore. The party is headed by Dr. E. J. Anderson, of Lynchfield University, who was accompanied by Mrs. Anderson and Miss P. D. Anderson.

Also on the liner were two parties of Boy Scouts heading for the jamboree soon to be held in Washington, D.C. One group of thirteen arrived from China, and the other, numbering thirty-three, from the Philippines.

CREW IS SAVED AS SHIP BURNS

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Aug. 6.—Twenty-two men were saved early yesterday when fire gutted the British freighter Methilhill off Cape St. Martin, in the Mediterranean. The captain and crew were taken off safely by the Spanish ship Campeador, which took them to Gibraltar. The British freighter Methilhill also went to the rescue and towed the ship toward Lisbon.

SEATTLE VIEWS "MOST MODERN" SHIP

The world's most modern vessel is the claim made for this striking-looking craft, pictured from the air with Seattle's soaring skyline as an effective background. The motor ferry Kalakala is the first large fully streamlined vessel ever built, say its designers. It is 276 feet long and provides speedy service on Puget Sound between Seattle and Bremerton, Wash. In addition the new ferry makes frequent day cruises in Puget Sound waters. The dances are broadcast over NBC station KOMO.

Warships of Three Nations To Be Here

British, Canadian and United States Ships Will Be in Victoria for Navy Week, August 12 to 17, With 2,000 Officers and Ratings

Warships from three navies will be in Victoria for Navy Week, August 12 to 17. The Royal Navy will be represented by H.M.S. Danae, the United States Navy by U.S.S. Salt Lake City, and the Royal Canadian Navy by H.M.C.S. Skeena and H.M.C.A. Vancouver.

Notification was received yesterday that the Salt Lake City, a modern heavy cruiser of the 10,000-ton class, carrying ten eight-inch guns and four 5-inch secondary armament, will arrive in Victoria in time to take part in the celebrations.

H.M.S. Danae, light cruiser of the West Indies station, commanded by Captain C. H. Knox-Little, is at present at Vancouver, and will arrive here in a few days time.

The Skeena and Vancouver, having completed a cruise through British Columbia waters, docked at Esquimalt at 9:30 o'clock this morning. They spent the last few days in gunnery and torpedo practice.

In all some 2,000 officers and ratings will be in Victoria for Navy Week, including about 600 apiece from the Salt Lake City and the Danae.

The central feature of the week's celebrations will be the naval ball at the Empress Hotel on the evening of Friday, August 16, to be attended by British, Canadian and United States naval officers and local military officials.

Mayor and Mrs. C. L. Smith of Seattle will be guests of honor at the ball.

HALIBUT BOAT IS SALVAGED

Canadian Press
Prince Rupert, B.C., Aug. 6.—The United States halibut boat, Admington, which struck a rock in Metlakatla Passage Sunday night, heeled over and sank, has been raised and her catch of 9,000 pounds of halibut salvaged. The boat was reported not badly damaged.

ORIENT BOYS ON ADVENTURE

Scouts on Board President Grant Saw New Continent To-day

For forty-six dark-skinned boys who were on board Ss. President Grant when she called here at 4 o'clock this morning from the Orient, the vessel was more than just a comfortable ocean ferry—she was a ship of adventure.

The forty-six boys were members of two parties of boy scouts heading for the United States national jamboree, to be held in Washington, D.C., shortly. Thirty-three of them were Filipinos and thirteen were Chinese. Very few of them were in khaki uniforms, half a dozen scouts of both nationalities were on the deck of the steamer as she tied up at Rithet's Piers, quietly looking out in the grey light of early morning at a new continent.

On their way across to Seattle, whether the liner sailed at 5:30 o'clock, they were to have a new experience.

NEWSREEL MEN

The liner was joined in Victoria by a party of newsreel cameramen, who will film the arrival of the boys in Seattle and their reactions to the United States. Soon the forty-six scouts will be able to watch themselves on the screen of almost any theatre that they may happen to enter.

In Seattle special arrangements were billed to dispatch the landing of the two parties. The usual formalities of the customs and immigration departments were to be waived, and the scouts were to be transferred immediately to a tender which would take them to the scout camp at Parsons, in Puget Sound, where they will spend a few days before proceeding east.

Around the Docks

DESTROYERS BACK
H.M.C.S. Skeena and H.M.C.A. Vancouver—docked at Esquimalt at 9:30 o'clock this morning after a cruise through B.C. waters. The last few days were spent in gunnery and torpedo exercises.

TO SAIL TO-NIGHT

Ms. Moldanger is expected to leave Ogdan Point some time to-night, after loading a fair-sized parcel of lumber for European ports.

PARTHENIA OUT

Ss. Parthenia of the Donaldson Line got away from Ogdan Point at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after taking 200,000 feet of lumber destined for the United Kingdom.

EXPECTED TO-MORROW

Ss. Anglo-African, at present loading on the mainland, is tentatively expected at Ogdan Point to-morrow to load lumber.

Office Staff May Work Ship's Cargo

Members of the Seattle office staff of the American Mail Line who came here from Vancouver yesterday and met the President Grant and sailed for Seattle aboard the liner may again do some longhoring.

The President Grant carried 300 tons of general cargo from the Orient destined for Victoria, and which was not unloaded here owing to the refusal of United States crews, at the instigation of local striking longshoremen, to give steam to the winches in this port, despite the fact that there is a properly incorporated longshoremen's union in existence again here.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY

The same thing happened two weeks ago when the President McKinley called here. A large parcel of freight destined for Victoria went on to Seattle.

But Seattle longshoremen considered that cargo billed for Victoria was unfair cargo, and refused to unload it at the Puget Sound city.

STAFF TOOK ON JOB

Whereupon the whole American Mail Line office staff, from the small Norwegian line office by upwards, took off their coats, and descended into the holds.

They worked from 10 o'clock at night till 4:30 o'clock the next morning, getting 100 tons of heavy stuff, mostly chinaware in large crates, into the afloats and out on the docks, where the haulage companies handled it.

FISHERMEN RETURN

Yarmouth, N.S., Aug. 6 (Canadian Press).—Two fishermen, Edward Boudreau and Wedgeport and Harvey O'Neill of Digby, were home to-day after a search conducted since they left port five days ago. They reported landing on a small island Saturday when the weather roughened and returned to Yarmouth when the sea calmed.

Refuse to Load Victoria Cargo

San Francisco Longshoremen's Decision Puts Complete Stop to California-British Columbia Freight Movement; Efforts Made at Washington to End Pacific Coast Deadlock

Associated Press

San Francisco, Aug. 6.—Ship traffic between San Francisco and British Columbia ports was virtually halted yesterday when Jack Creary, vice-president of the International Longshoremen's Association—local, notified the waterfront employers' association that no ships destined for Victoria will be loaded here.

The I.L.A. had voted previously to refuse to load or unload ships bound for or arriving from Vancouver. The embargo on Victoria was ordered when F. M. Kelley, secretary of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific, said he had received a telegram from the strike committee of the Canadian city declaring the port "unfair." Two vessels are tied up in San Francisco and three in Vancouver as a result of the embargo.

At the same time yesterday firemen on the American-Hawaiian liner Iowan walked off the ship in an effort to secure discharge of Filipino members of the deck crew, the Employers' Association announced.

PROGRESS REPORTED

Washington, Aug. 6.—Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward P. McGrady reported to-day "progress" was being made in negotiations for settlement of labor trouble in the Pacific Coast shipping industry.

McGrady conferred until 2:45 a.m. E.S.T. with representatives of shipping companies and the Pacific Coast district of the International Longshoremen's Association and was to meet again to-day with the same groups and members of the master mates and Pilots Association.

He said he could only report that "some progress" was being made. The government is seeking, he said, to obtain release of nearly a dozen ships now tied up in coast ports in asserted violation of an agreement ending last summer's general shipping strike on the western seaboard.

Harry Bridges, radical longshore leader responsible for orders blocking at least one vessel in San Francisco Bay, refused to comment on last night's discussion.

GIFT TO TAGGERS WAS RETURNED

The Victoria Riggers' and Transport Workers' Association this morning informed The Times that the sum of $0.75 collected by members of the Victoria Longshoremen's Association at Ogdan Point on Saturday and presented to them towards the funds for their wives and children was returned Sunday morning to the donors.

TWO NEW SHIPS FOR CANAL RUN

Latest Johnson Line Motorships Will Have First Sailings From B.C. in Fall

Announcement of the entry shortly of two more new motorships into the Europe-North Pacific run by way of the Panama Canal has been received by local shipping offices representing the Johnson Line, Norwegian company operating between Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, London, England and Scandinavian ports.

The two new vessels, which bear the names of Nordfjorden and Argentinien, are similar in many respects to the Margaret Johnson class of motorships operated by the line.

EIGHTEEN PASSENGERS

They have accommodation for eighteen first-class passengers in six double and four single staterooms and one private suite. All the staterooms have private baths, and the suite includes a private sitting-room. The new vessels also carry a modernistic dining-room on a glass-enclosed veranda.

The ships will make the passage from San Francisco to London in twenty-three days.

The Nordfjorden will have her first sailing from Vancouver on October 9, leaving Seattle three days later, and calling in Portland on October 18.

The Argentinien is due out of Seattle on November 2.

The Johnson Line vessels do not list Victoria as a regular port of call, but put in here on fairly frequent occasions.

ROADS IN BANFF PARK ARE GOOD

Banff, Alta., Aug. 6.—Although highways in other parts of Alberta may be in poor shape following the recent heavy rains, the roads in Banff Park have never been in better shape, according to motorists visiting the Banff Springs Hotel, and transport officials. Recent visitors here commented on the good improvement in driving conditions in the park, as compared with some of the other roads. The fine surface and the fresh oiling job done this summer has made even the most difficult roads to mountain points of interest quite safe.

However, transport officials report that none of the greatly varied trips operated from Banff Springs Hotel has yet had to be cancelled owing to road conditions, and commented satisfactorily on the heavy traffic they have enjoyed thus far.

HUDSON BAY PORT IS BUSY

Churchill, Man., Aug. 6.—All was hustle and bustle about Manitoba's northern seaport to-day as residents prepared for the opening August 10 of the port's fourth season of navigation.

Gangs of men and machinery cleared up around the walls and rebuilt the entrances to historic Fort Prince of Wales, where the work of reconstruction has been going forward steadily for some time.

The famed mission schooner Plus XI, which returned here Saturday from Chesterfield, left to-day on her second trip north with supplies for the hospital there, 400 miles to the north.

Ss. Nasopie, due here August 11 from Wostenholme, will take on loads of Montreal-built boats for ports in Baffin Island. The Nasopie also will carry a carload of green buffalo hides for Eskimos on Ellesby Island.

The steamers Wentworth and Leopold, en route from Europe, will carry wheat on their return trips. The Leopold will discharge fuel oil to the Dominion Government vessel Ss. McLean at Wakeham Bay August 16 while en route.

BUILD REFRIGERATOR CARS

London, Ont., Aug. 6 (Canadian Press).—Work is scheduled to begin to-day on construction of 125 new refrigerator cars in the London carshops of the Canadian National Railways. It was learned last night. The shops will reopen after a fortnight's layoff.

The new order is London's share of the $1,500,000 relief reconstruction programme for railway rolling stock, cost of which is guaranteed by the Dominion Government.
